GM ASKS COURT TO CURB PICKETING

HOUSING PRICE CONTROL PLAN FACES STORM

Real Estate Circles Speak Out Against Truman-Backed Legislation.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—Administration-endorsed legislation to fix price ceilings on new and existing houses ran into stiff opposition today.

The most outspoken criticism of the proposed control program approved by President Truman came from real estate circles.

On Capitol Hill, a spot check of the house banking committee considering the price-fixing legislation disclosed that a number of members believed Mr. Truman already had sufficient authority to deal with the housing problem.

This sentiment was echoed by the National Association of Home Builders, which said the imminent restoration of building materials to a priorities system made price ceilings unnecessary.

Frank W. Cortwright, executive vice president of the association, said his organization would continue to oppose ceilings.

He told a reporter Mr. Truman's program for channeling 50 per cent of all building materials to residential dwellings costing $10,000 or less would help keep all home prices in line.

The national housing agency said in a statement:

"When people want shelter, they want it bad. Within limits, many people will pay any price for a place to live."

Cortwright said home builders had been getting only about 30 per cent of available construction supplies, and that with this increased to 50 per cent under the new program there was good chance that a goal of 500,000 new homes in 1946 could be realized.

On the subject of priorities, the Producers' Council, Inc., said earmarking supplies would make little difference in the number of homes built next year "unless the government takes steps to stimulate greater production of materials and equipment."

Rep. Patman (D-Tex) author of the pending legislation on housing ceilings, termed the President's indorsement and priorities program steps "in the right direction."

SCHOOL ABSENCES STILL INCREASING

1,513 Pupils Out In City; Kenton Classes Closed.

Influenza cases reported in the Marion city schools continued to increase with today's count of absentees which reached 1,513. This is 26.3 per cent of the total enrollment. A slight increase was also reported in the county schools today with the closing of the Campbell school. There are now four county schools closed, the others being Prospect, Claridon and Pleasant. They will remain closed the rest of this week.

Yesterday's report of pupils absent in the city was 1,433. Eleven teachers are reported absent today, four more than yesterday. Central Junior High school which has almost half of its enrollment absent is reported to be improving slightly, with some returning to school. Absentees in all other schools are increasing.

Plans for a Christmas entertainment scheduled for Monday evening at Vernon Heights Junior High school, under the sponsorship of the P.-T. A. have been cancelled on account of illness among the pupils and families of those planning to take part in the program.

KENTON AND FOREST SCHOOLS CLOSED

Special to The Star

KENTON, Dec. 13—Walter L. [illegible], superintendent of schools here, issued an order at 11 a. m. today closing all schools in the city because of the flu epidemic. The buildings will be closed the remainder of this week and longer if necessary. This order was given following a check of attendance this morning when 120 pupils were reported absent in the high school.

It was also announced that Ridgeway, Forest and Hardin Central schools also closed, will not open until Monday.

A basketball game which was scheduled between Kenton and Bellefontaine for Friday was cancelled. Other games which the records shown affects are the Dola game at Ridgeway game at Ridgeway and Forest and Alger game at Alger.

Twin Brothers with Astronomy As Hobby Make Own Telescopes for Exploring Sky

DOCTOR SAYS PATTON MIGHT WALK AGAIN

By The Associated Press

HEIDELBERG, GERMANY, Dec. 13—The commanding officer of the U. S. Army hospital where Gen. George S. Patton Jr., is under treatment for paralysis said tonight there was "a good chance" that the American commander might be on his feet again.

The fracture of the vertebra in Patton's neck was reduced, he said, but it is still impossible to determine how much damage was done to the spinal cord.

Doctors in attendance said the general had spent a good night and that his general condition remained satisfactory, with no complications.

Mrs. Patton talked with her husband for 10 minutes this morning, and then spent most of the afternoon sitting by his bedside.

Col. Glen Spurling, chief attendant surgeon, announced at 6 p. m. that the general's condition was "progressing satisfactorily."

A medical bulletin this afternoon said that Patton had a comfortable day. He was described earlier as "cheerful and alert."

The medical bulletin indicated, however, that there had been no marked change in the paralysis from which Patton is suffering as the result of a broken neck sustained in an automobile accident last Sunday near Mannheim.

Meanwhile the 118th Military Police company reported that in the opinion of investigating officers "the accident was caused by carelessness on the part of both drivers" in the collision of the general's car and a truck.

Both were listed as excellent drivers. The report said the two returned to their units and that no disciplinary action had been taken. The report said the truck driver had signalled for a left turn before the crash.

SCIOTO BUILDINGS ON SURPLUS LIST

Lausche Declares Chances of Getting Plant Good.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13—Prospects of the state taking over a portion of the Scioto Ordnance Plant at Marion, O., for care of the mentally ill brightened today with announcement that the Army property would be declared surplus Dec. 17, Gov. Frank J. Lausche reported.

The governor conferred in Washington yesterday with Nigel H. Bell, deputy surplus property administrator, and requested suspension of the usual 90-day waiting period after property is declared surplus. Bell indicated the request might be approved, Lausche said.

Acquisition of Fletcher General hospital at Cambridge and Crile General at Cleveland remained doubtful, Lausche said. The veterans administration was reported seeking the Crile property. In that case, the governor declared, the state would step out of the picture in favor of the federal agency.

Lausche requested [illegible] equipment at all three [illegible] to avoid [illegible] to [illegible] institutions.

Ehricks Become Self-Trained Amateur Scientists in Leisure Time.

By JOHN R. ELLIOTT

It's a small world—but a mighty interesting one—for Harry C. and William F. Ehrick, Marion twins, who use this globe of ours as a convenient place to plant their home-made telescopes and watch the endless heavenly parade go by.

But let no one get the wrong idea about the Ehrick brothers or their telescopes. Although they may have their heads in the stars in their leisure hours, they have a firm foundation in the earthly business of making machinery at the Huber Manufacturing Co. plant here. And as for their telescopes, they are expertly and scientifically fashioned, the outgrowth of 25 years of experience in the hobby of making and using astronomical instruments.

Starting with high school educations in their native city of Bucyrus, the twins have built up a remarkable knowledge of astronomy and other technical fields. These self-trained amateur scientists speak with equal facility of such things as spiral nebulae, 16-inch armor piercing shells and farm tractors.

Once their leasure time was absorbed by work with electricity and radio and they recall having giant sparks of static electricity jumping off the ends of their fingers. But now optical instruments are their delight—mostly telescopes, but also a variety of others, including a microscope, projector, astronomical clock and camera.

Careers Almost Parallel

Like most twins, the Ehricks are closer than ordinary brothers. Their careers in business and in hobbies have been almost parallel, except for a few pre-war and war years when Harry went to Findlay and William to Columbus for industrial work. Harry is now chief engineer at Huber while William is plant manager.

In the not too distant future, they plan to be a little closer together than ever, in side-by-side homes which they are drafting for a location in Vernon Heights. One of the features of their plans is an outdoor "observatory" for carrying on their hobby, and the land is happily enough the highest in the vicinity.

At present, William, married and father of three, is living at 679 South Prospect street. Harry, temporarily residing at 364 East Church street, will bring his family from Findlay as soon as housing permits. He and Mrs. Ehrick have seven children.

Incidentally, the families have varying degrees of interest in telescope making and astronomy, but mostly as observers. The enthusiasm of the twins is highly infectious and backed up by sound reasons.

Whether their hobby has anything to do with it is uncertain, but the twins present a youthful appearance which belies their 60 years. They could easily pass for men of 45.

File Into Time's Trend

However, their hobby is a timely and valuable one in view of the world's scientific boom touched off by the atomic bomb.

"Atomic power is nothing new to astronomers," Harry declared. "Every day, every 24 hours, the world has been getting an average of 330 billion billion horsepower of atomic energy from the sun—and that's only a fraction of the sun's power."

The Ehricks, as all scientists, note the unusual resemblance between the arrangement of the interior of an atom and the arrangement of our own solar system. Each has a large central body (the sun) and a number of revolving smaller bodies (the planets, etc.)

Hobby's Value to Youth

But excluding the undoubted rise of interest in science, the Ehricks present other recommendations for their hobby, and especially they advise it for families with young boys.

"It is actually one of the least expensive hobbies," Harry said. "You can make a fairly high-powered six-inch reflector telescope for less than $10. Quite a few companies advertise ready-to-go-to-work kits for about $6."

The chief attraction, as in most hobbies, is self satisfaction at doing something with your own mind and hands, but the Ehricks believe their hobby has an edge on others.

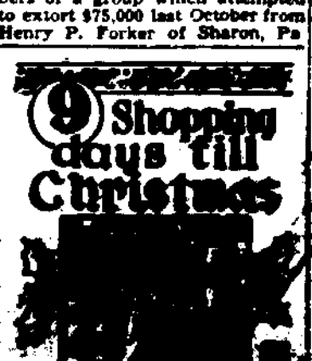
OHIO BOYS SENTENCED

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 13 — Two northern Ohio youths who had pleaded guilty to a federal charge of juvenile delinquency in an extortion case were sentenced today to three-year terms. The sentences were imposed by Federal Judge Emerich B. Freed on a 16-year-old McDonald, O., youth and a 17-year-old Warren, O., youth. The youths admitted being members of a group which attempted to extort $75,000 last October from Henry P. Forker of Sharon, Pa.



GEN. MARSHALL SAYS 'DEFINITE' ALERT ORDERED

Angrily Tells Pearl Harbor Probers He Expected Short To Obey.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—Gen. George C. Marshall, flushing with anger, asserted today the Army commander in Hawaii was given a "definite" alert order before the Japanese attacked Dec. 7, 1941, and that he felt he could expect it would be carried out.

Marshall testified before the senate-house committee investigating the attack. Previously, the investigators had learned that Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, the Hawaiian commander, established only an anti-sabotage alert in response to a warning message Nov. 27 from Washington.

To Leave for China

Marshall wound up his testimony today with a statement that he had nothing to do with the decision to retire Short.

This decision, Marshall said, was reached by Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox who took similar action in the case of Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, the naval chief in Hawaii.

Marshall's appearance on the witness stand lasted 26 hours over a seven-day period. As he finished at 12:45 p. m. (EST) a plane was waiting to fly him immediately to China as President Truman's envoy.

The former Army chief of staff flared up under persistent questioning about information given to overseas commanders in the last few days before the Pearl Harbor attack plunged this nation into war.

Got His Orders

"General Short was given definite direction," Marshall said. "He was given an alert order. I still feel that when you give a command to a high officer you expect it to be carried out."

Earlier, Marshall said that American bombers would have been justified in sinking any Japanese war ships that appeared in Hawaiian waters before the war began.

Marshall told the senate-house committee investigating teh Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, that the appearance of such vessels would have been "an overt act."

As Marshall returned to the stand for the seventh day, the committee learned that former Secretary of State Hull may have gone to his last conference with Japanese "peace" envoys Dec. 7, 1941 without knowing of their diplomatic reply which had been intercepted and decoded.

Tells of Message

An affidavit submitted to the committee showed that the 14-part Japanese message—described by some witnesses as a tipoff that war was near—was delivered to the state department by an Army officer just as Hull met Ambassadors Saburo Kurusu and Kichisaburo Nomura.

The subject of bombing Japanese ships came up when Rep. Keefe (R-Wis) noted that a Nov 27, 1941, warning message to Hawaii included instructions that the U. S. wanted the Japanese to take the first step toward hostilities. Marshall again said the directions went into the message at President Roosevelt's request.

Then, he assumed that Japanese warships were sighted beyond re-

36 OF DACHAU GANG SENTENCED TO HANG

By The Associated Press

DACHAU, Dec. 13 — A U. S. military court today sentenced 36 officials and guards at the notorious Dachau concentration camp to death by hanging for the murder, torture and starvation of thousands of the camp's inmates.

Another defendant was sentenced to life imprisonment and three others were sentenced to terms of 10 years each.

Witnesses at the trial said that 5,000 Jews were killed at Dachau, that inmates were brutally beaten, that naked men were immersed in ice water for experiments and that some men were sent to the crematory while still alive.

Sidewalk Reconstruction Seen As Urgent Need for Marion

Valuable Improvement Available at Low Cost; Walks of Uniform Design Would Replace Old Stones.

A citywide program of sidewalk reconstruction and repair has been pointed to recently as one of Marion's most urgent needs of the immediate future.

With the exception of some WPA projects in the residential areas eight or 10 years ago little has been done in Marion in recent times to keep sidewalks safe and in repair, it has been pointed out by civic minded residents interested in improving the appearance of the city.

They point to the condition of sidewalks in the business district especially as a good example of why such an improvement program is needed.

Puddle-Hopping Necessary

Any pedestrian caught in the downtown area after a rain is well aware of the condition of the sidewalks. Puddle-hopping becomes a necessity as water fills low places in the walks. In some places these pools, an inch or more in depth, extend across most of the walk, leaving only a narrow passageway next to the buildings where pedestrians may walk without wading the pools.

Many of the sidewalks in the downtown section are the original sandstone, laid many years ago. In many places countless thousands of feet have hollowed them out until they have become basins for catching water after every rain. Sinking of the foundations at the joints has left many uneven spots, creating an additional hazard.

CALLS ACTION AT CLEVELAND PLANT ILLEGAL

Corporation's Move Comes as Negotiations Resume; Ford Hope Seen.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Dec. 13 — General Motors Corp. sought an injunction today against a striking Cleveland local of the CIO's United Auto Workers Union, alleging "illegal picketing" at the Fisher Body plant in that city.

The corporation's move, in which it charged "threats and personal abuse" were used against non-strikers trying to enter the Cleveland plant, was made as negotiations over the picketing issue were in progress.

General Motors, whose production has been halted 23 days by the UAW-CIO's strike over a 30 per cent wage increase demand, with 213,000 workers idle, has insisted heretofore that the picketing question be ironed out before the wage discussions. Subsequently, however, GM has talked wages with the union.

Cleo Incident

The petition for an injunction was asked in common pleas court in Cleveland and, according to a General Motors announcement here, specifically named an incident of Tuesday when 600 employes allegedly were prevented from entering the plant.

General Motors asked the injunction against Cleveland Local 45 of the UAW-CIO and 30 officers and members, including John Troster, international representative, and Charles Beckman, president of local 45.

The striking union has denied General Motors' charges here that pickets have exceeded their rights under the law.

Actually on strike are 173,600 employes. General Motors has not stated what proportion of the remainder of the 38,000 out of work have been kept out by the alleged illegal picketing.

The Fisher Body plant at Cleveland normally employs 3,000 hourly workers and 1,100 salaried employes, General Motors said.

Resume Negotiations

While some union leaders resumed limited negotiations with General Motors Corp., others more hopefully went back into huddle today to map further strategy for speeding up settlement of their wage fight with the Ford Motor Co.

Negotiators for both Ford and the CIO United Automobile Workers appeared still conciliatory despite a company blast at overall union policy and a union reply that the attack was "provocative."

Richard T. Leonard, UAW-CIO Ford director, admitted he was "not very happy" over the outcome of yesterday's wage parleys, but said he would press the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage increase.

Picketing Studied

The GM-UAW session today was to be confined largely to a discussion of General Motors' charge of "illegal picketing" at some of the 70-odd strike-bound plants, where 213,000 workers have been idle since Nov. 21.

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Fisher of 310 West Church street are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Sgt Alice L. Fisher, to Henry White Combs, son of Mrs Anna M. Coombs of Philadelphia, Pa.

The evening service was solemnized Nov. 6 by Chaplain Wilbur Rike in the chapel at Ft. Myer, Va. Cpl. Eve Podell of New York was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. Cpl. James O'Brien of Philadelphia served as the best man Both the bride and her attendant were in the uniform of the Woman's Army Corps. The altar was decorated with white mums and two seven-taper candelabra.

The former Sgt. Fisher was discharged at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., on Nov. 11, after three years of service. Her last assignment was with the assistant chief of staff of the supply division with the War Department in Washington, D. C. She was graduated from Harding High school in 1940.

Mr. Coombs was also recently discharged from the Army after serving three and a half years in the states and one year with the 76th Infantry division in Germany.

The new Mrs. Coombs stopped here for a short visit with her parents after her discharge from Ft. Sheridan. She left last week to join her husband in Philadelphia where they will be at home at 3024 North Broad street after Jan. 1.

Covers were laid for 26 members and guests of the Beta Study club at a dinner in the presidential suite of Hotel Harding when members entertained their husbands Tuesday night. Pine, holly and yuletide greenery decorated the table and a Christmas gift was presented to each guest. Mrs. R. G. Ardrey presided as master of ceremonies. On the program, in charge of Mrs. Francis Voll and Mrs. Homer Comer, were Mrs. Rose Kelly, clairvoyant and numeralogist, and Dr. Carroll Ritchey, magician. Mrs. Edward Bymes and Mrs. Wilson Dallas were introduced as new members Mrs. Oliver Bush was chairman of the social committee.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kehrwecker entertained at their home on Oak street with a cafeteria style family dinner Sunday honoring the former's father, P. F. Kehrwecker of Reed avenue, who celebrated his 86th birthday.

Pictures were taken of the family group seated at a table, which was centered with a birthday cake and decorations which carried out the Christmas theme. Gifts were received by Mr. Kehrwecker.

Present besides the honored guest were his wife, Mrs. Laura Kehrwecker, their seven children, Mrs. Mayme Overmire of Fostoria, Mrs. Rosolla Babbs of Richwood, Mrs. Emma Forrey, Mrs. Ruth Ruhlman, Mrs. Martha Jeffers, William Kehrwecker of Henry street, John Kehrwecker of Oak street, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Kehrwecker, Norma Jean and Gloria Ann and the following friends and other relatives, Mrs. Charles Forrey, Miss Rita Lewis, Lewis Ruhlman and Howard Jeffers, all of Marion and William Babbs of Richwood.

Members of the J.A.C. club held their Christmas party Wednesday night with Mrs Clinton Kneisley on South High street. The rooms and tables were decorated in keeping with the season and a potluck supper was served preceding the playing of cards. Special greeting cards were sent to a past member, Mrs. Don Reiff, now residing in Port Jervis, N. Y., and to Mrs. Harry Gustin, in the hospital. A contest award went to Mrs. C. W. Stafford. Secret sisters were revealed with a Christmas gift exchange. Euchre was played with first honor going to Mrs. Edwin Dix, second to Mrs. Stafford and floating to Mrs. John Rinnert. The next meeting will be Jan. 9 with Mrs. Otto Davis on Pearl street.

Mrs. Phillip Brooks was reelected president of the G. N. O. club at its annual Christmas dinner party at Hotel Harding last night. Chosen to serve with her for the coming year were Mrs. Kenneth Coon, treasurer and Mrs. Willis Nye, reporter.

A small Christmas tree which centered the table was decorated with yuletide greenery and the club colors of scarlet and silver were carried out in favors. Sunshine friends were revealed and new names drawn for the coming year. A white elephant exchange in charge of Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Edward Doyle followed. One new member was voted on. The next meeting will be Jan. 9 at the home of the president.

Mrs. Lucille Barton of Bellefontaine avenue was hostess to the A. F. club Monday when the annual Christmas exchange party was held. Mrs. Marion Harris served as assistant hostess. Bridge was played with high honors going to Mrs. Geneva Reidel, second to Mrs. Audrey King. Miss Mary Fazio was consoled. Mrs. Reidel of Wood street will entertain at the Jan. 10 meeting.

A surprise party honoring Miss Freida Wanner of Pearl street whose approaching marriage has been announced, was held Tuesday evening by the Sunshine class of Prospect Street Methodist church at the church parlors Covers were laid for 40 guests and the table was decorated with white mums and lighted candles. The program, in charge of Mrs. John Dietsch, included a mock wedding and a series of musical selections. Mrs. Fred P. Haas was in charge of refreshments. During the dinner the guest of honor was presented a gift by Miss Lena Chalfant.

A meeting of the Advance club was held Monday afternoon with Mrs. L. C. Wogan of 764 South Prospect street. Mrs. R. L. Gettman was named chairman for the Victory Fund drive. The program included a vocal solo, "No Candle and No Fire Was There" Liza Lehman, by Miss Dorothy Wogan and a Christmas reading by Mrs. G. E. Frank. An auction of canned and baked goods and other miscellaneous articles followed the social hour. Mrs. Fred Merchant will serve as hostess for the next meeting on Jan. 7 at the Federation Home on East Center street.

Mrs. Myrtabelle Morris of Congress street entertained members of the Monte Carlo Pinochle club Tuesday evening when plans were made for the Christmas party to be held Dec. 21 at Detrick's Inn. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Evelyn Campbell, Mrs. Rosemary Lawson, Mrs. Millie Baker and Mrs. Morris.

Mrs. Harold B. Jones returned yesterday to her home on Chicago avenue after accompanying her mother, Mrs. Emma Zimmerman of 161 North Seffner avenue, to Florida two weeks ago. While there they were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Stone and Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Doughty, former Marion residents.

Weddings

Miss Alice McCombs, daughter of Mrs. Lucille McCombs of 247 Oak street became the bride of Clarence Austin Jr., S 1/c, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Austin near Marion, at noon, Sunday, Dec. 9 in the Second Pilgrim church. The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Albert M. Hood in the presence of the immediate families and close friends.

The bride chose for her wedding, a black velvet afternoon frock. The dress was fashioned with white lace insets at neck and pockets and buttoned to the waist in back with small pearl buttons. She wore a white sequin trimmed hat, black accessories and a shoulder bouquet of red rosebuds centered with a white gardenia.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs Ray L. Nye of Upper Sandusky, sister and brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Mrs. Nye wore an olive green dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. McCombs, mother of the bride, was costumed in a two-piece dress of teal blue with brown accessories. Mrs Austin wore gray with accessories in black. They wore identical corsages of gardenias.

The bride's gift to her attendant was tiny jeweled ear rings The bridegroom presented his best man with a leather billfold.

At a reception in the bride's home following the ceremony refreshments were served to 25 guests by Mrs. Ruby Welch, sister of the bride, assisted by Mrs. Ruth McEldowney.

Mrs. Austin, attended Harding High school and is employed as an inspector at the Universal Cooler Corp

The bridegroom has been serving in the Navy since 1942. He spent 31 months with the 3rd Fleet in the South Pacific as trainer on a 5-inch gun battery, participating in 40 major engagements, and has received 13 battle stars

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were the attendants, Mr. and Mrs Ray L Nye and son Steven of Upper Sandusky, and Mrs. Leo Kilgore, maternal grandmother of the bride, of Bucyrus.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride was wearing a white wool dress with black accessories and the gardenia from her wedding corsage.

Upon their return the bride will make her home with her mother and Seaman Austin will return to service for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Miller of 514 Girard avenue have returned from Cincinnati where they attended the wedding of their niece, Miss Joan Bayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bayer of that city, to Charles Scott Martindill, son of Ernest Martindill of Wellston, O., and the late Mrs. Martindill, which took place at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Clifton Methodist church. Rev. Roy Vandergriff read the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Alfred H. Roberts of Englewood, N. Y., and the bridegroom's brother, William Martindill was his best man

Upon their return from their wedding trip the couple will live in Indianapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayer entertained with a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Hotel Alms in Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller were accompanied home by Mrs. A. J. Stough of St. Thomas, Ontario, Canada, aunt of Mrs. Miller, who also was present for the wedding, and yesterday were joined by Mrs. Stough's daughter, Mrs. W. K Cameron, also of St. Thomas, who will be guests at the Miller home.

Miss Ruby Hord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bellis of Bucyrus became the bride of Francis Keener, son of S. P. Keener of the Keener pike in a morning service held Dec. 6 at the home of the bride's parents.

The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. David Mumford, pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran church of Bucyrus. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gingery of Benton, O.

The bride chose a street length dress of taffeta and wore a shoulder corsage of red roses. Guests included Miss Gloria Louise Gingery and Mrs. Charles Bellis and Arthur Trovinger of Bucyrus.

A reception was held at the home immediately following the service.

Among the post-nuptial parties for the couple was a family dinner held Sunday at the home of the groom's father, S. P. Keener. Guests included, Mr. Keener, Mr. and Mrs. Frances Keener, Orville Holt, recently discharged from the Navy. Miss Donna Keener, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hatcher and family of Edison, Mr. and Mrs. George Keener and family of Marion. Miss June Keener and Mrs. Hobert Osborne, sisters of the bridegroom, were hostesses.

Pleasant Homemakers Hold Meeting at School

Miss Mary Lois Smith was a guest speaker at a meeting of the Pleasant Homemakers club Monday evening at the Pleasant school. Her topic was "Art in the Home." Mrs Gail Smith presided and devotions were conducted by Mrs. Glen Hawk. Contest awards were won by Mrs. Albert Augenstein, Mrs. George Seiter, Mrs. Lonnie Furniss, Mrs. Albert Herr, Miss Smith and Miss Eula Hawk. Entertainment was arranged by a commitee composed of Mrs. Robert Baughman, Mrs. Walter Behner, Mrs. Robert Blank and Mrs Martha Baldauf, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Marion Craven, Mrs. Ed. Dutt, Mrs Carl Messenger and Mrs. LeRoy Dawson. A Christmas party and exchange will be held Dec. 17.

Columbus Pianist on Guest Party Program of Club

PAUL STROUSE

MEMBERS of the Marion Art club will entertain with their annual guest party Friday evening at Hotel Harding at which time Paul Strouse, pianist of Columbus, will be guest entertainer. A dinner at 6 o'clock will precede the program scheduled for 8 in the hotel ballroom. The program hour will be open to any persons interested.

"The Interpretation of Pictures Through Music" is the program topic. Mr. Strouse is considered one of the outstanding pianists in the state and formerly was an instructor of piano at Capital university, Columbus. He has appeared in recitals at various colleges throughout the country and is considered one of the best instructors of piano in the state capital.

Prior to going to Columbus he studied with Petri in New York City and accompanied some of the country's leading artists in that city. A native of Switzerland, he came to America when very young. Mr. Strouse has had a class in Marion for the last two years.

Club Plans Yule Gift for Needy Family

Plans were discussed for a Christmas charity project and a Christmas meeting when the Business Women's club met for luncheon at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday A committee was appointed for the project, purchase and presentation of gifts to a needy Marion family. The gifts will be wrapped by club members at the Christmas meeting next Wednesday night at the home of Miss Mary K. Miley on South Seffner avenue. The committee includes Misses Lois Jean Murray, Kathryn Lusch and Evelyn Hazen.

The project is the second undertaken by the new service group. A gift of evergreen trees placed at the Center street entrance of the Marion county courthouse recently was the first community service project of the club.

An exchange of presents among club members was planned for the meeting next Wednesday night. Miss Madeline Wynn presided Carols were sung by the group accompanied by Miss Mary K. Taylor.

Home-Mixed Cough Syrup Gives Quick Relief

Saves You Big Dollars. And It's So Easy! No Cooking.

Here's an old home mixture your parents probably used. But, once tried, you'll always use it, because it gives such quick, pleasing relief for coughs due to colds.

And it's so easily mixed. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, if desired.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint of truly splendid cough medicine, and gives you about four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a long time.

You can feel this simple home mixture take right hold of a cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes irritation, and helps clear the air passages. Eases the soreness, makes breathing easier, and lets you get restful sleep.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its quick action on throat and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

OHIO GRANTS WHISKY BONUS FOR HOLIDAYS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13—Ohioans will get a Christmas whisky bonus of an extra unit—a fifth, quart, or two pints—in the Dec. 17-20 ration period, State Liquor Director Robert M. Sohngen announced today.

However, the bonus must be purchased with the regular unit because of the necessity for punching ration cards, Sohngen said.

With the Christmas buying rush already starting, he said, it was too late now to attempt to work out a method of letting buyers take their units one at a time.

Permit holders also received a bonus in an increase of their allotments to 100 per cent of their total average weekly bottle purchases of all types of liquor during the first six months of 1942. During the expiring ration period they have been given 90 per cent, an increase of five per cent over the previous periods.

Sohngen indicated that New Years' Eve closing problems for night clubs and other drinking spots would be largely a matter for local authorities to work out.

"The department is going to bed at the legal closing hours," he said.

STATE CONSERVATION HEAD RESIGNS POST

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13—The state conservation commission today accepted the resignation of Director Don G. Waters. The resignation will be effective immediately.

Waters has been director of the department since January, 1939, having been appointed by former Gov. John W. Bricker.

He first submitted his resignation last June 1 but was persuaded by the commission to remain. At that time he said he wished to retire in order to spend more time at his home in Elmore. He said today his plans for the future were indefinite.

He has been active in public life for 27 years.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

Feels as Lively as a Youngster—Now Has Backache to Better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be kidney sluggishness.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help about 9 million people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty urination with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

ABOUT ANYTHING

In and Around Marion

Question of Color

You can always tell whether the women you meet on the street at noon are going to or coming from dinner by the amount of lipstick they have on. If the color is barely noticeable you can almost bet on it that they have just "eaten it off."

• • •

Curiosity

So many of the same faces are seen on the buses each morning that you become curious just where they all work. The funniest thing is that if you see one of them on the street later or in some store it takes a minute to remember where you have become familiar with the face.

• • •

Harder To Handle

We haven't decided yet just which member of the male sex is more curious about those hidden Christmas packages, the little men or the big ones. The wee ones are a little too trusting to go snooping into hidden places and the bigger editions know all the possible hiding places.

• • •

Let Down Feeling

Few things are more annoying than to make a grab for a door so you can make a dash outside—then have the door knob come off in your hand.

• • •

Surprise Is Better

Strange how you wish you knew everything you were going to get for Christmas yet when you do know what some of the things are you feel sort of let down, and wish you hadn't been so curious.

• • •

Assembly Line

There is a regular assembly line in operation up at St. Mary school cafeteria. All those cans of food that are being collected have to be sorted and packed and the packers have worked out a system designed to save time and effort. According to the report from officials there they have an assortment that would put them in competition with a chain store.

• • •

Nylon Telepathy

When the sale of the first postwar nylons occurred the other day, the announcement of the super hose wasn't all passed by word of mouth. Just watch any woman walking on air clutching a hosiery sack in her hand for a beatific expression on her face, and brother—she's found nylons.

• • •

Time Will Tell

Why young folks pop out of bed early in the morning when they could sleep for another hour or two is one of those mysteries. Wonder what age they have to be before you have to pry them out of bed?

Choice Tid-Bit

There is something about a left over sandwich in daddy's dinner bucket that appeals to the younger generation. Under normal conditions you probably couldn't force the little tyke to eat the thing, but just let him find it in the bucket and it's as good as gone.

Christmas Packages

Those bulky packages which grown-ups guard so carefully are the kind that are stored away in the safest place after they arrive. Some Christmas isn't too far off now and usually the gifts-to-be are already put from sight before the youngsters arrive home. Once in a while peculiar noises can be heard coming from a mysteriously wrapped bundle and sometimes it can be identified as a large mama or a music box or one of those circus wagons that plays circus tunes.

Already little ones can be seen with their noses plastered flat against big plate glass windows looking at the stacks of toys on display.

The majority of mother's Christmas requests can be filed this year but it looks as if poor father will be out of luck what with shirts, shorts pajamas etc. practically non-existent. Wouldn't a father's eyes really bug out if he could come down Christmas morning and find four brand new shirts tied up in red ribbon? All right so the ribbon wouldn't be necessary but as long as we're dreaming we might as well make the dream done up in fancy wrappings.

GIFT VOTED BY GRANGE

At a meeting of Progressive Grange recently the members voted to give $5 to the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis association. Mr and Mrs. Charles Fetters were presented a gift from the Grange in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary and Mr. and Mrs. L. Laucher were complimented with a miscellaneous shower. The group decided to have a Christmas exchange at the next meeting Dec 18. The program consisted of a musical number by a trio composed of Miss Virginia Epley, Mrs. Richard Hughes, and Mrs. Richard Blank and a two number by Robert Blank, Richard Blank and Milan Gorby.

PLANES DROP FOOD TO MISSING FLIERS

By The Associated Press

TIENTSIN, CHINA, Dec 13—Food, winter clothing and medical supplies were dropped by a Marine transport plane today on an isolated Chinese village where six Marine fliers, missing more than a month were reported held.

Tientsin reports said they were held in the unnamed village by Chinese Communists.

(Communist sources in Chungking said recently that six captured American airmen were being released, but there has been no subsequent indication that they ever were freed.)

Search continued meanwhile for 12 other Marine fliers who went down in a storm over Shantung peninsula Dec. 7. Natives yesterday reported that bodies of six fliers had been found, that a seventh had suffered leg fractures, and that the five others were unhurt.

There was no confirmation of new reports that three more Marines, piloting F-7 fighter planes, speedrest in the orient, had been lost somewhere near North China's great wall.

Wesleyan Guild Has Cardington Meeting

CARDINGTON—The Wesleyan Service guild of the Methodist church met Monday night, with Mrs. Ruth Longworth, assisted by Mrs. Ruth Harris and Mrs. Margaret Snyder.

Devotionals were conducted by Mr. Lowell Murphy. Mrs. Myrtle Conaway, gave a Christmas story.

Mrs. Frances Weiss, outgoing president, installed officers for the coming year: president, Mrs. Ganelle Ullom; vice president, Mrs. Louise Russell; secretary, Mrs Opal Long; treasurer, Mrs. Irene Primmer.

• • •

A dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Haycock Sunday, in honor of their son A.R.M. 3/c Sanford Haycock of San Jose, Calif. and new bride the former Jane Boger of Cardington.

SPEARS AT CRESTLINE

CRESTLINE, Dec 13 — Mrs Wilma Winternagham of Toledo spoke on "Far Horizons" in an illustrated colored chalk talk in the school cafeteria Monday night for the Crestline Woman's club. Mrs Arvine Kindinger played Christmas carols and Mrs. A. A. Remy was at the piano for group singing. Little Susann Enoch and Albert French in formal costumes sang "Away in a Manger," with Marylan Oliphant at the piano. Mrs Arthur Enoch, chairman, Mrs J F McMahon and Miss Flodia Miller were the social committee.

SHARP HOUSE DEBATE OPENS ON JOBS BILL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Dec 13 The house went to work today on long-range legislation designed to ease future labor strife by maintaining large-scale employment.

Two factions carried to the floor for debate a bitter controversy over how far the government should go in trying to avoid a scarcity of jobs.

The expenditures committee asked the house to go along with its bill, which outlines a federal policy of maintaining "a high level of employment, production and purchasing power."

But a group of 110 members headed by Reps Outland (D-Calif) and Patman (D-Texas) called on their colleagues to reject the committee measure and adopt one binding the government to a program of "full employment."

The committee bill would create a three-member council of economic advisors to make recommendations to the President.

The Chief Executive then would submit suggestions to congress for public works projects and other efforts to ease unemployment.

The so-called "full employment" measure was adopted by the senate early in October.

Save Profitably and Safely

You can do both here. Accounts insured up to $5000—Share in earnings

Many "investment" opportunities of very doubtful value are offered to the uninitiated, where not only income but principal can be lost, while cash kept at home is subject to a variety of dangers.

The sensible solution is a savings account here where safety is insured in an instrumentality of the U S government and substantial earnings are paid, semi-annually, in proportion to your investment.

NAVY SCORES ARMY'S PROPOSAL IN MERGER

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Dec. 13 -The Navy favors unification of national defense forces but feels the war department's plan to "merge first and plan afterward" is extremely vague," H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of the Navy, said today.

In an address prepared for delivery before the Cincinnati Rotary club, Hensel said "the war department's plan for the merger of our nation's armed forces is shadowy and Army officers are instructed not to discuss the details."

Hensel asserted the United States made mistakes in World War II and, although "We improved as the war progressed, at the end there were many gaps and deficiencies."

He said our major deficiencies could be classified under three headings:

"Our foreign policies and our military programs were not integrated and there was not sufficient interchange of plans and policies.

"Our military programs were not tied to the productive capacity of our domestic economy.

"Inside each department, and between military departments, there were gaps and duplications leading to waste."

Hensel declared "The Navy has offered to the country a really comprehensive unification plan for national security. It is directed toward closing all the gaps which appeared in our prosecution of the war."

OHIO CHAMBER HEAD SEES DANGER TO U. S.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13—An organized, revolutionary movement "is driving to unseat the established American system of industrial and commercial enterprise," A. Graves Williams, Ohio Chamber of Commerce president declared today.

In his annual report prepared for delivery at the Chamber's 52nd annual meeting, Williams said the organization's objective was "to fight for maintenance of the present system as the most equitable and productive means yet devised by any nation to develop and expand a dynamic economy."

The Chamber president said he was "convinced that there is in this country a well planned, thoroughly disciplined, and carefully directed revolutionary movement, seeking to undermine the competitive enterprise system, and to substitute for it completely centralized bureaucracy * * *."

The wood of the poplar tree has been used widely for the manufacture of berry baskets and crates because it is soft, tough, clear, light in weight and color, and tasteless and odorless.

Patman Plans Probe of Chainstore Issue

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 — The chainstore issue, often a pivot for bitter political controversy, reappeared today on Capitol Hill.

Chairman Patman (R-Tex) said in a statement his house small business committee would conduct an investigation on the "alleged injurious effects" of chain store competition upon "small, independent merchants."

The Texan said he hoped the committee would recommend legislation designed to "encourage the maximum number of independent business opportunities for the maximum number of people."

FARMER INJURED BY CORN PICKER

H. E. Slagle of East of Marion in City Hospital.

H. E. Slagle, 30-year-old farmer of east of Marion, suffered severe injuries of the left arm today when his coat sleeve caught in the elevator of a corn picking machine and drew his arm into the mechanism. He had been attempting to scoop corn from the top of the elevator when he was drawn into the machine. According to a report from City hospital at noon, the physician in charge said they would attempt to save the arm if possible.

Several farmers from the neighborhood were working with Mr. Slagle at the time of the accident and helped extricate him from the picker. Warren C. Gruber, one of the workers rushed him to City hospital where he was admitted shortly after 11:30 a. m. The farm is about five miles east of Marion on Route 98.

Mr. Slagle is married and has three children, a boy 7, and two girls aged 5 and 3, years respectively.

THREE STAR CLUB HOLDS PARTY AT MANSFIELD

Marion Member Retires As President of Group.

The annual Christmas party and election of officers of the Three Star club was held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel in Mansfield Tuesday night. The club is comprised of women employes of the Ohio Fuel and Gas Co., and includes members from Marion, Mansfield, Willard, Shelby, Crestline, Ashland and Galion. Miss Leota Click of Marion, president, presided.

Those elected to serve for the coming year were: Miss Irene Karnavas of Mansfield, president; Miss Ruth Murphy of Marion, vice president; Miss Elizabeth Haberman of Marion, secretary; Miss Angeline Spitalieri of Mansfield, treasurer.

Attending from here were Misses June Cochran, Eloise Overholt, Marion home service director, Ruth Murphy, Elizabeth Haberman, Leota Click, retiring president, and Mrs. Ray Parish.

The dinner which preceded the election, was served in the hotel club room, from a U-shaped table, decorated with evergreen and tall lighted tapers. Individual favors were green and red crepe paper Christmas trees.

Following the election the meeting was turned over to the new president and plans were made for the coming year. Games and contests were enjoyed during the social hour and Miss Betty Rauch, home service director of Mansfield, dressed as Santa Claus, distributed the Christmas exchange gifts from an appropriately decorated tree.

BULL BRINGS $37,000

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 13—A record price of $37,000 was paid for Guernsey bull, the sellers of the animal have disclosed. Otto Schnering, president of the Curtiss Candy Co., and Charles B. Bolton, owner of the Franchester Farms, Cleveland, said the two-year-old bull, "Curtiss Franchester Levity Ace," was bought by Charles G. Lang of Glen Arm, Md. The previous high for a Guernsey was $35,000 paid in 1929 for "Langwater Eastern King."

Electrical Workers Stage Strike Vote

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—A strike vote among a union-estimated 200,000 workers in plants of General Electric, General Motors and Westinghouse will be taken today throughout the nation.

The workers, members of the CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, will decide whether they will go out on strike sometime after Jan. 1.

The union is seeking a wage boost of $2 a day—approximately 30 per cent. It rejected a General Motors offer of a 13½-cents-an-hour pay increase.

The voting is being conducted by the National Labor Relations board.

The union said 100,000 General Eletric workers, 75,000 Westinghouse and 25,000 in the electrical division of General Motors would take part in the balloting.

Plants involved include Mansfield and Warren, Ohio

Union Says Contract Not Violated

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13—Supported by an opinion from their general counsel, Lee Pressman, the CIO United Steel Workers declared in a formal resolution they are within their contract rights in going ahead with plans for a nationwide strike Jan. 14.

The strike, called by the USW's 175-man wage policy committee, is to enforce the union's demand for a $2-a-day wage increase.

A resolution, adopted by the committee yesterday, asserted the union "has meticulously adhered to the terms of the contract and will continue to do so."

At a news conference, Phillip Murray, president of both the CIO and the steel workers, held out no hope the union will take any new step to avert a strike.

Asked if government intervention might halt a walkout, Murray said the union would accept a government invitation to negotiate with a federal labor conciliator present — if the U. S. Steel Corp. would also accept the invitation.

Such action, Murray said, would at least postpone the strike.

TO HONOR U. S. ACE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—Leading American aviation figures of two World Wars today took leadership in the Richard Ira Bong Memorial Foundation of Poplar, Wis., a group formed to maintain the memory of America's leading ace in World War II, killed last Aug. 6 on a west coast test flight. Honorary chairman of the organization is Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, top flier of World War I and currently president and general manager of Eastern Air Lines, Inc., assisted by Col James Stewart, returned to Hollywood recently after more than four years' service with the Army Air Forces, and Gen. H. H. Arnold, commandant of the U. S. army Air Forces, as vice chairmen.

QUITS 'UP AND DOWN' RUN

By The United Press

CHICAGO—Harry R. Atevens, 65, estimates that in 38 years he traveled at least 12,000 miles, up and down. He operated an elevator from 1907 until he retired this fall.

DRIVER, DONOR. When Gen. George S. Patton Jr., was rushed to a hospital in Heidelberg, Germany, following the collision of his auto with an Army truck near Mannerheim, Cpl. 175 AT SOJOURNERS LODGE INSTALLATION

W. J. Thomas Seated as Worshipful Master.

Approximately 175 persons attended the installation of Sojourners Lodge No 653, F. and A. M., which followed a dinner attended by Masons from 17 lodges from central Ohio at the Masonic temple Wednesday.

W. J. Thomas was installed as worshipful master and with him were: Wilfred H. Schweinfurth, junior warden; John H. McCurdy, treasurer; Dr. B. L. Wallace, secretary for the twentieth term; Owen H. Scott, chaplain; Richard A. Maxim, senior deacon; Floyd B. Burtch, junior deacon; Clifford B. Welch, senior steward; Franklin P. Eyster, junior steward; Thomas E. Reed, tyler. Stuart E. Jones, district inspector of R.A.M. was appointed grand marshall and John E. Beer, grand secretary of the hall, was named grand chaplain by Vernon Boyd, senior grand deacon of Massillon. Mr. Boyd served as installing officer in the absence of Ernest Schaefer, grand master of Akron, who was unable to attend on account of the serious illness of his wife.

Plans were made to confer the entered apprentice and the fellowcraft degrees at a meeting starting at 6:30 Wednesday, Dec. 19, in the temple.

Serving at the dinner which preceded the installation were members of the White Shrine.

SANTA CLAUS HURT!

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., Dec. 13—Rosy-cheeked Frank Jordan, 50-year-old insurance salesman, played Santa yesterday and wound up in General hospital. In Santa Claus attire, Jordan was thrown from a jeep when it collided with an automobile at a downtown street corner. He suffered head cuts and possible internal injuries.

PEARL HARBOR

stricted waters around Pearl Harbor but within range of bombers.

"The sudden, unannounced appearance of such ships in those waters would have been an overt act and would have justified bombing. And I believe the country would have backed them up."

Expands Views

Marshall also said, in reply to a question, that he thought a flight of foreign planes over Hawaii would have been an overt act.

Questioning of Marshall about when he received the important 14-point message has been extensive. Several witnesses have said that the 14th part, combined with a message to the Japanese to deliver it at 1 p. m. Washington time, was the tip that hostile action was imminent.

Whether Hull ever read any of the 14 parts before he talked to the Japanese remained unclear in affidavits collected by Lt. Col. Henry C. Clausen. Clausen was deputized by former Secretary of War Stimson to make an independent Pearl Harbor inquiry.

In an affidavit to Clausen Feb. 13, 1945, Col. Carlisle C. Dusenbury, on duty in the Army intelligence division here in 1941, said he began delivery of the 14-point message at 9 a. m. Dec. 7, 1941, and finished at the state department as Hull was meeting with the Japanese.

Quotes War Words

"When I delivered the copy to OPD (operations division) that morning," Dusenbury related, "I handed it to the then Col. Thomas T. Handy, who, upon reading it, said to me 'This message means war,' or words to that effect."

John F. Stone, then personal assistant to the secretary, said he couldn't recall when Hull got the message.

Marshall told the committee yesterday that he was not seeking to place all of the blame for the Pearl Harbor disaster on Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, in command in Hawaii at the time.

Had the defenses been ready, Marshall said, he thought the Japanese attack would have been limited in its damage.

Police See "Pattern" in Triple Cremation

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13—District Attorney Edmund Geraid Brown said today a trans-continental hunt through at least half dozen cities, prompted by the arrest here of a former convict, already has "established a definite pattern" in the deaths and cremation of three eldely women.

Brown said investigation of the case was made difficult by the fact that all of the bodies had been cremated.

The ex-convict, Alfred Leonard Cline, is held here on a charge of suspected forgery of estate papers of one of the women.

OHIO SENATORS SPLIT

GRISLY EXHIBIT PUT BEFORE NAZI COURT

Preserved Head, Lamp Shades of Skin Made Evidence.

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, Dec. 13—A preserved human head and lamp shades made of human skin were presented as evidence of atrocities in Nazi concentration camps at the war crimes trial of 21 top German war leaders today.

The grisly exhibits were added to the Germans' own records of murder and brutality placed before the four-power international military tribunal by Allied prosecutors charging the once-powerful Nazi warlords with "crimes against humanity."

The preserved human head, shrunk to the size of a baseball and resembling the war trophy of an aboriginal head hunter, was that of a Pole who had been caught fraternizing with a German girl.

Artistic Touch

The three pieces of human skin tanned into parchment for lampshades for the wife of SS Standartenfuehrer Koch came from victoms at Buchenwald selected because of their "artistic" tattooing, according to an affidavit by a former inmate of the concentration camp.

The "death ledgers" of the Mauthausen camp recorded the deaths of more than 35,000 inmates from 1939 to 1945. On March 19, 1945, 203 persons died in 12 hours, the records showed.

Mauthausen was the camp where Joseph Morton, Associated Press war correspondent, according to available evidence, was executed last winter on the signed order of Secret Police Chief Ernst Kaltenbrunner, one of the 21 defendents.

A statement from a Budapest Zionist leader disclosed that Hungarian Jews who were too young or too old to serve as slave laborers were automatically consigned to death in concentration camp gas chambers.

American prosecutors, supporting the charge against 21 Nazi leaders of "crimes against humanity," introduced the affidavit of Rudolph Kastner, leader of a Hungarian Zionist organization, reporting SS troops seized 475,000 Hungarian Jews in 1944 and transported them to the Reich in "death trains."

Some Died at Once

"Children up to the age of 12 or 14 and older people above 50 as well as the sick or people with criminal records were taken immediately on their arrival (at Oswiecim concentration camp) to the gas chambers," Kastneer declared in his affidavit.

"The others passed before an SS doctor who, on sight, indicated who was fit for work and who was not. Those unfit were sent to the gas chambers while the others distributed in various labor camps."

Disclosing another breach of international law by the Germans, U. S. Assistant Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd produced a secret SS order showing the high command had directed that prisoners of war who escaped and were later recaptured should be transported to the Mauthausen prison camp and their fate kept secret from the International Red Cross.

British and American prisoners were exempted from the treatment by the order.

Woman Is Injured In Mishap Near Prospect

Miss Olleta Cochran, 26, of Springfield, O., was slightly injured when the car in which she was riding, driven by her father, George Cochran, collided with a truck driven by H. A. Findling of near Prospect, just south of the interesection of Routes 4 and 203, at 8:55 a. m. today, state patrolmen reported.

The accident occurred when Cochran, driving north on Route 4 attempted to pass the truck, also northbound, and a left front tire blew out. The Cochran car struck a culvert, sideswiped the truck and came to a stop in a field on the west side of the highway. Riding in the car at the time, besides Miss Cochran was her mother, Mrs. Allena Cochran, and Miss Patty Morse also of Springfield. Miss Cochran was treated at the office of a Prospect physician.

Homebound Transport Sends Distress Call

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—The troopship Joseph Hooker, with 562 servicemen aboard, pitched in the Atlantic off Nantucket light vessel today as nearby vessels speeded to answer her distress call.

The Air-Sea Rescue office, eastern sea frontier, said the ship was 270 miles east southeast of the Nantucket light vessel last night. First distress signal from the Hooker said:

"Taking water in number three hold. Request vessels stand by in case cannot keep pumps going."

Later the rescue office said the ship had radioed it was proceeding at six knots on a westerly course, but might not be able to keep on course because of the pitching.

Among the Army units represented aboard the Hooker is the 141st Field Artillery battalion.

SIX FLEE HOSPITAL FOR INSANE AT LIMA

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., Dec. 13—Six male inmates of the Lima state hospital for the criminal insane escaped last night by sawing their way out of a washroom.

Supt. R. E. Bushong reported they were not considered dangerous.

The escape was not discovered until this morning.

Four of the men were from Hamilton county. They were Benjamin Mitchell, convicted of burglary and house breaking; Theodore Mitchell, grand larceny and carrying concealed weapons; Robert Hamilton, auto theft, and William McOwen, pocket-picking.

The two others were Clifford Bendure of Wayne county, convicted of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, and James Birt of Mercer county, convicted of robbery.

All had been transferred to the hospital from state penal institutions.

Jack Robbins Named DeMolay Chapter Head

Jack Robbins was chosen master councilor of Marion Chapter No. 288, DeMolay for the coming year at an election held in the Masonic temple last night. To serve with him will be William Wiedemann as senior councilor and Noel Corwin as junior councilor. Installation will be held Jan. 5.

Plans were made for DeMolay initiation to be conducted by Charles Pace, present master councilor, Saturday night, Dec. 15. The next meeting will be Dec. 26.

JAP CRUCIFIERS GUILTY

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 13 — Eleven Japanese were convicted of the crucifixion of three Australian and one American airmen by an Australian military court today at Morotai, in the Moluccas.

CHIANG IN PEIPING AS TROOPS ROLL ON

By The Associated Press

TIENTSIN, China, Dec. 13 — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek appeared in Peiping today for the first time in many years, as his troops, last reported 40 miles beyond Mukden, were reported rolling swiftly toward Hsinking, leading Manchurian industrial center.

Other National government forces were moving to Changchun, Manchurian capital, by air.

Observers here viewed the rapid-fire developments as strong indication that all Manchuria, rich in industry, would be in the hands of Chiang's government forces within a few weeks and probably with a minimum of bloodshed.

The almost total absence of Chinese Communist opposition to the Chinese government drive in Manchuria, plus Russia's friendly attitude and cooperation with Chiang's forces, indicates that the Chinese Reds—if they fight at all—will do so in the rugged western mountains where they are strongest.

OHIO MAPS SUNDAY WELCOME FOR 37TH

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O Dec. 13—Ohio officially welcomes its own 37th Infantry division Sunday when Maj. Gen Robert S. Beightler and fellow members of the Buckeye group lead a home-coming celebration for World War II veterans.

The commander of the division, which fought through South Pacific jungles, on Luzon and in Manila, will be greeted Saturday upon his arrival from San Francisco, where he debarked with 5,500 enlisted men and officers from the Philippines.

Other officers and men of the 37th arrived on different ships.

A parade through downtown Columbus will touch off the festivities, followed by an official welcome to General Beightler on the statehouse steps. A banquet and dance also are planned.

General Beightler, a former state highway director, requested that enlisted veterans accompany him during the parade and at the banquet.

SEE CUT IN MEATS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—The agricultural department said today civilian supplies of meats would decline about nine per cent from present levels of consumption during the first quarter of 1946. These supplies will be sufficient to allow per capita consumption at an average annual rate of 150 pounds. The department said civilians had been consuming meat in recent weeks at a rate of 165 pounds.

PILES REMOVED NO KNIFE CAUSTIC LOST TIME

Even today, many educated people SIMPLY DO NOT REALIZE how easy it is to get rid of Hemorrhoids permanently. This is because the modern science of ELECTRO-THERAPY is so new that most people have not heard about the blessed relief it brings to thousands of Pile sufferers without the pain, without caustics, with minimum time lost from work.

If they knew—if YOU knew—how simple my electrical method was, you would not endure another day the discomfort, soreness of Piles. Even if your Piles are not causing you great pain at present, they may get worse, if neglected. Piles are a tumorous formation that doesn't just "go away" by itself. Piles have to be removed! Even so-called "mild" cases may be undermining your health at this moment by aggravating your stomach with nervousness, headaches, run-down tired feeling, or constipation.

The wisest solution is to REMOVE THE PILES. My new, safe, quick electronic method is so successful that grateful patients drive hundreds of miles to reach my clinic in Ashley. My office hours are 10-12, 2-4, 7-9 every day except Thursday and Sunday. NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY. If you suffer from piles, you owe it to yourself to come to my clinic for a FREE EXAMINATION. Don't put it off. There is nothing to fear. COME TODAY.

Beef Steaks Give Writer Clue to Irish Prosperity

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

DUBLIN, Dec. 13—This is a tough article to control because my whole impulse is to start right out with the glorification of two beef steaks which your columnist team has just eaten at our first meal in the capital of Eire.

They were steaks such as we've dreamed of but haven't even seen up to now since Uncle Sam really hit stride in food rationing.

D. Mackenzie

These beef steaks are symbolic of a great change for the better which southern Ireland has undergone in recent years.

The Eire which I have known for a generation has been transformed from a land in which there was much poverty and distress to one in which, so I am informed in official quarters, there is no real destitution.

To get the full significance of that you must have seen—as I have in years past—poverty so harsh in some country districts that many families rarely knew anything better than potatoes and salt for food.

I don't want to give the impression that southern Ireland has suddenly become a land flowing with milk and honey. However, its position has improved so much during the past dozen years that Dublin today is the mecca of a host of tourists from Britain, including many Americans living in England who are in search of relief from drab and really meagre rations.

Not a few are drawn by the fact that there's plenty of good liquor to be had here, whereas spirits of any sort are almost as rare in London as molten gold.

About the greatest vital shortage is coal. Ireland is dependent on imported coal, most of which has come from England, but Britain herself is short now and the continent is impoverished. The result is that Ireland has fallen back in a big way on the traditional fuel of Ireland—the sweet smelling peat which is cut from the huge bogs. There are miles of peat stacked up in huge piles along the highways about Dublin, but of course this cannot begin to take the place of coal especially for industrial purposes.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Army and Navy Plan Needed

By Walter Lippmann

...controversy between the ...partment and the navy ...been argued sufficiently ...t quite plain that no ...ination has yet been ...at which it would be ...ongress to impose by ...

...pposing that the War ...nt blueprint is a good ...ion of what the military ...ment ought to be like. It ...ne element which is in- ...to any plan of unifi- ...is fairly to succeed. ...the senior officers of the ...ding the marine corps, ...authors of the plan, ...e Department plan, and ...self is, it seems to me, a ...bstruction to it.

...plan, the plan which ...bring about the team- ...Gen. Eisenhower has ...so convincingly, needs to ...the product of team- ...should be drafted and ...jointly by the three ...which are expected to ...ether under the plan.

Unsatisfactory

...ugun marriage is a poor ...and a happy family. It ...ident that if Congress ...War Department plan ...many there would be ...inistrative and formal ...a genuine unity, which ...n conviction and con- ...ld be lacking. For we ...ing here not with inert ...that can be fitted and ...nailed together according to a blueprint but with proud and sensitive men, imbued with a great and glorious tradition.

They must be persuaded and they should not be overridden. For unity is not to be achieved by issuing an order which they must obey. The unity which Gen. Eisenhower wants, the only kind worth having, requires active and wholehearted belief and not merely passive obedience.

The practical conclusion is, it seems to me, quite clear. The president, the Congress, and the public, should ask the three services to produce a joint plan—one which Secretaries Patterson and Forrestal, Gen. Eisenhower, Admiral Nimitz, and Gen. Spaatz are agreed upon, one which is as much the work of the joint staffs as were the plans of the combined operations during the war.

Need Force At Times

Some will say that the senior officers of the services are too far apart to come together on a joint plan, that it is too difficult for the services to agree on how they are to be united, that only by uniting them first can they be made to learn to agree.

There is weight in this argument. It is often true in human affairs, and it may be true here, that in order to get men to cooperate, they must find themselves in a position where there is no alternative but to cooperate.

That would still not be a reason for making the War Department plan the law of the land. But it would be a reason for the president to make sure that the chiefs of staff were men who really wanted to agree on a joint plan, who were looking for ways to resolve their differences.

As a matter of fact, in Gen. Eisenhower and Admiral Nimitz the President has two chiefs of staff who meet these specifications. They have proved their capacity to bring about teamwork among the services, and certainly the President would not be asking too much if he directed these two men to work out a joint plan.

What they had agreed upon, all could agree upon, for if they were united on a plan, its prospects of success would be that fact alone be most favorable. They would as joint chiefs of staff put into operation a plan which jointly they had produced. No other plan, no matter how plausible it looked as a blueprint, would carry with it the same assurances of success.

Part for President

The passionate and often acrimonious controversy between the two departments is in the last analysis due to the fact that the commander-in-chief did not lay down a clear rule requiring them to produce a joint plan.

Perhaps no great harm has been done, perhaps even much good, by allowing the matter to be debated freely. But now that everyone has had his say, there is no point in everyone's saying it again and again until no one is capable of changing his mind.

The appropriate time to end the debate, and make a new start, is now when Gen. Eisenhower and Admiral Nimitz are taking over. It can serve no good purpose for them to carry on the old controversy which developed while they were abroad.

They have come home to be the organizers of American military power in the postwar world, and the best place for them to begin is by adjourning the old debate and devoting themselves with fresh and uncommitted minds to the formulation of a joint plan.

GRANGE PICKS TOLEDO

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13—The Ohio State Grange today selected Toledo for its 1946 conference before taking up resolutions setting forth the organization's policy. One proposed resolution demanded that the federal government give the farmers a voice in labor-management negotiations.

LAST OF OLD "BIG 4"—Only survivor of the "Big Four" of World War I, Vittorio Orlando, 86, former premier of Italy, is shown pausing for the cameraman as he called on Prince Umberto of Italy for consultation in the recent cabinet crisis. With America's Woodrow Wilson, Britain's Lloyd George and France's Clemenceau, he dictated peace terms to the Germans at Versailles.

Army Hunts Outfit of Ohio GI Hermit

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13—Pvt. Elza McIntire, who lived as a hermit for 20 months in the woods of Guernsey county, was in the guardhouse at Fort Hayes today and wondering where he would go next.

The 39-year-old soldier, taken into custody near Cambridge Tuesday, went AWOL from Fort George Meade, Md., on March 13, 1944, army authorities said.

They are trying to ascertain the location of his outfit. He will be shipped back if it is in the United States.

M'VAY COUNSEL HITS USE OF JAP WITNESS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—Capt. Charles B. McVay's defense today vigorously assailed the prosecution for "grotesque proceeding" in seeking to offer a former Japanese naval officer as a witness in his court martial.

When the judge advocate announced he was ready to call the Japanese officer, Iko Hashimoto, the chief defense counsel, Capt. John F. Cady entered formal objection to the "idea of calling an officer of an enemy force noted for despicable treachery" to testify against an American naval officer.

McVay is being tried on charges of inefficiency and negligence in connection with the loss of his ship, the heavy cruiser Indianapolis enroute from Guam to Leyte last July 30.

Hashimoto was skipper of the Japanese submarine I158, purportedly the craft that sank the Indianapolis.

A-BOMB SHIP TEST URGED BY PRESIDENT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—President Truman proposed the projected Army-Navy test of atomic bombs against warships, the White House disclosed today.

The war and navy departments on Monday announced plans for the experiments.

Questioned at a news conference, White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters Mr. Truman not only approved the decision, but suggested it.

Ross could not say whether the test would be made against American ships or captured enemy vessels.

The Army-Navy statement said plans for the bombing are being made but set no date for the test.

POWERS SIGN PACT

By The United Press

LONDON, Dec. 13—Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin told commons today that Britain and France have agreed to joint withdrawal of their troops from Syria and Lebanon.

You Save Hours of Time and Miles of Steps in a LENNON KITCHEN

Modern living demands too much of your time, too much of your energy to spend them foolishly. Cut down lost motion and needless work in the room where you are most active—your kitchen.

In a LENNON KITCHEN everything you use is exactly where you need it, exactly when you need it. Miles of walking is shortened to a minimum of steps. Your work top is the hub. Banked about it within easy reach are your cabinets of gleaming white. A place for everything, everything in its place.

Utility is not the only feature of a LENNON KITCHEN. Beauty is there. Beauty that will make every other room envious. Envious of the cheerful gatherings there each evening and of the admiring compliments to host and hostess.

Your new kitchen awaits you at Lennon's. Have it livable — have it lovely — have it Lennon planned, Lennon built.

Brothers View Wonders of Sky

believe that even a superficial acquaintance with the stars "holds a lesson for a man—perhaps a rebuke—if only to show us our insignificance," in the words of Harry.

The orderly movement of the planets, the wonderful distances, the glories of the heavens have a sobering influence. It's hard to be an atheist looking through a telescope. (Especially when you realize that some of the stars are so far away that what you see happened millions of years ago, the light taking that long to reach the earth.)

The brothers recalled the words of a famous astronomer to a doubting layman who wondered whether God could possibly be interested in such trivial creatures as human beings on such a puny planet as the earth.

"That, madam, depends on how big a God you believe in," was his answer.

Popular knowledge has advanced since the brothers took up astronomy about 1920.

"When I started," said Harry, "anyone interested in astronomy or the stars was regarded as a little 'cut nuts.'"

It is well to state that the brothers want to aid, to be confused with astrology, although they do say that a good astrologer has to know a lot about the stars to put on a good show of fortune telling. As for the stars controlling man's destiny, it's the bunk, they say.

But as for astronomy—that's a different matter. It is an old and recognized science with highly respected devotees throughout the world.

Patience Required

To follow star study or escape making as a hobby requires a well-disciplined mind, and according to the brothers

"It takes more patience than strength."

The Ehricks have plenty, as evidenced by the time Harry once spent 3,000 hours preparing a stainless steel reflecting mirror. Incidentally, the brothers have developed a new technique for making parabolic mirrors from stainless steel, and Harry has been asked to write an exposition of the process for an astronomical publication.

Preparation of the highly-polished mirrors for the telescope is the hardest part of the business of telescope making.

"On anything as big as a 10 or 12-inch mirror," the brothers said, "the curvature must be correct within two one-millionths of an inch."

Incidentally, Harry has one corrected to one one-millionth—and that is minute figuring, as any machinist accustomed to working in ten-thousandths of an inch will testify.

Painstaking Work

The brothers buy blanks of glass for their optical work—although they do have a set of beautiful lenses in their home-made projector made from an automobile windshield.

"The initial preparation of the mirror for polishing brings it up to within one-tenth of one one-thousandth of the correct curvature," Harry said. "That's about one-fifth of the work. Then comes the difficult part."

For the polishing, the brothers scrounge the same as jewelers do (and some soldiers who shine their buttons) in a foundation of pitch or honeycomb substance.

The operation is one of exactness and care, perfection hinging on the polish and the nature of the stroke. One process which the brothers use requires them to keep walking around the mirror continually while polishing.

It's a slow process, but the result—a perfect mirror—is one of the chief satisfactions, the Ehricks find.

Just by way of estimating, Harry said that "with luck a 10-inch mirror can be completed in 100 hours."

It's purely a spare time enterprise for the brothers, but it takes a lot of that.

"During the summer and fall we perhaps have spent three or four hours a night, three or four nights a week," Harry said. "But when we are actually making something, that's when we're really busy."

Strangely enough, when the brothers have made one of their mirrors or lenses or other object they more or less lose interest in it and start on something else.

"The fun comes in making things," they agreed.

Two Types of Telescope

It should be explained the telescopes are of two main types—refracting and reflecting, the latter involving use of an exquisitely curved and polished mirror to catch the rays of light from the heavens and focus an image of the star or whatever is seen. This image is then seen through a carefully made eyepiece which magnifies the image. This is the type of telescope favored by the Ehricks.

In the refracting type the light is gathered by an object glass rather than a mirror, but again the magnification comes in the eyepiece.

The telescopes of the Ehricks are really double telescopes—a miniature instrument being attached to the side and synchronized with mathematical precision to act as a finder. This is necessary because the field of vision is very limited, the moon, for example, filling up the entire view. The finder takes in a much larger area of the sky and enables the operator to locate small objects, before attempting to narrow it down to the regular telescope.

Outside of the mirror, the eyepiece and the finder, there is the tube to house these parts, and a very substantial base, which runs the weight of the instrument way up. The Ehricks' telescopes weigh anywhere from 250 to 900 pounds.

They are conveniently made so that if necessary the heavy base can be left outdoors without harm and the delicate mechanisms can be taken inside for safekeeping.

Some Auxiliary Products

There are other gadgets which the brothers have made to add to the effectiveness of their telescopes.

One of these is an astronomical clock which operates on "star time" and when synchronized to the telescope will cause it to follow a certain star from night to night. With this device attached, it is possible to get the telescope lined up on a certain star one night, leave it alone and it would hold it on the star for hours without attention. The man who sets the clock up, of course, must know what he is doing and, more important, what the star is doing.

The clock mechanism is so finely made that it gears the motion down at the rate of roughly 288,000 to 1—meaning the clock makes that many turns while the telescope makes only one, moving in a circle across the skies.

The brothers have also made a camera attachment with which they can take pictures of the moon, solar eclipses and other objects.

"The astronomical camera is one of the most important of developments in astronomy," according to the brothers. "The photographic plate is cumulative. The eye won't see any more after looking an hour than it did at the first glance, but the camera adds up the light and as a result you get brilliant pictures, with details the eye wouldn't ever find.

"The moon will give a good picture with about a half-second exposure," Harry said. "An average star would require from five to eight minutes."

Near Perfection Essential

The optical glass which goes into such results must be almost perfect. Delicate measuring devices are used to determine wavefronts, lenses are satisfactory.

Eyepieces can be made rather fast, compared to mirrors, the brothers said. Starting with a piece of roughly ground glass (a round piece of bottle glass) they desired thickness), and with perseverance one possible to finish a couple in a night.

The power in a good telescope eyepiece is amazing.

"If you're not careful when looking at the sun," said Harry, "it's possible to burn out an eyepiece. I remember once I set the grass on fire with mine."

As for seeing objects in the heavens, the instruments made by the Ehricks pick up almost anything an amateur would want to see—details of the moon, the sun (including its well-known spots) the rings of Saturn and a variety of stars, nebulae and other bodies.

Incidentally, the brothers prefer the actual making of the telescopes and other devices to the business of studying the stars.

"I've looked through a good many of the big telescopes," Harry said, "but I still prefer to stick around the basement."

"The fall and winter present the most interesting views in the skies," the brothers say, which means that many a chilly night finds them outside star-gazing. That one point where their families draw the line and stay inside.

Although the brothers date their start in telescope making at approximately 25 years ago, they have always had an interest in astronomy, probably arising from the fact that their father, the late Otto Ehrick of Bucyrus, always had a telescope around the house.

However, about 25 years ago the brothers came in contact with the noted amateur astronomer George H. Lutz during a business transaction and Mr. Lutz happened to have with him a telescope mirror. One thing led to another, and before long the Ehricks were amateur telescope makers.

Mr. Lutz, who alternates between Florida and California, depending on the seasons for the stars, still corresponds with the Ehricks.

Outside of their activity in astronomy, the brothers have had interesting careers in industry.

Most of their lives was spent in Bucyrus, where they worked for a number of plants, including the old Gemmill-Remfield Steel Co., which had operations in the plant and Mansfield during World War I, and still is a leading English firm.

After the war, the brothers were sent on a confidential mission to Europe for the government and the company in connection with a secret process for manufacture of armor piercing projectiles.

The brothers are justly proud of the war record of the Mansfield plant, which carried out a three and a half-million dollar contract without a loss.

"The record has never been equalled in that sort of work," Harry said.

At that time Harry was superintendent and William was assistant and their plant specialized in huge 16-inch naval projectiles.

The brothers came here in the early 1930's to work for the Huber Co. William for a while also was associated with the Marion Metal Products Co. and was with the Clark Vault Co. of Columbus from 1937 to 1942 when he again joined the Huber staff.

Harry's career has been closely tied in with his brother's. He too came to Huber in the 30's, serving as production engineer from 1933 to 1939. Then he went the Buckeye Traction Ditcher Co. at Findlay as works manager and stayed with them until his return to the Huber Co. about a year ago.

Confucius Say Take One Look— Marines Did and Moan for U. S.

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Feature Writer

TSINGTAO CHINA — Confucius once said 'One look is worth a thousand words

Several thousand accepting his statement versatim have had a good long look at this ancient sages home province and now they're almost unanimous that they don't want to waste words about getting out of here

Hal Boyle

It is the only subject I ever knew more than two Marines to agree upon

Tsingtao is one of the chief ports of Shantung peninsula in northeast China and is important as a rail terminus, textile manufacuring center and coal shipping point.

You don't hear much talk here about 'coal for the lamps of China" It's all about coal for the power plant at Shanghai.

Confucius lived in Shantung province more happily than do American Marines, and still residing here are the 77th generation of his descendants.

Mountain Still There

The old philosopher might like to know that his sacred mountain, Tai Shan, is still 5,056 feet tall and no rivals have appeared upon the landscape

Tsingtao has sea bathing facilities and is one of a dozen oriental cities willing to be known as "The Riviera of the Far East"

Once when the Kaiser had a navy there was a substantial German outpost in Tsingtao and Teutonic accents and red-tiled roofs linger from the old days.

The city has a population of well over 500,000 and a visitor gets the impression well over half of the citizens are engaged in peddling souvenir bric-a-brac and garments of genuine silk rayon whatever that means—at prices that make Shanghai merchants look like philanthropists

Navy Joins Marines

I talked here to two Navy pharmacist mates who also served with the Marines on Okinawa They emphasized repeatedly how much the Marines dislike their present position in China

"I know the Marines would bellyache 24 hours a day, even if they were on a 40-hour week," said Frank McCormick of Ruther-ford N J but they're the best fighting outfit in the world

Only one man thing is this—they all want to know just what the hell we are doing over here The only American property we have to protect is our own equipment"

His buddy, Bill Edward Martin of Richmond Hill N Y, said some of the men were considerably annoyed also because whoever sent them 2 000 kerosene stoves to keep them warm neglected to send the wicks

And we are so short of shoes," Martin said, 'that you have to get a doctor's certificate now to get a pair I'm not joking"

He wasn't either.

ATOMIC SECRETS

NO. 6—ENERGY ROUNDUP

AP Newsfeatures

BECAUSE U-235 (the type of uranium which men found gives off atomic energy most readily) is only seven-tenths of one per cent of ordinary uranium, U. S. scientists developed huge centers for concentrating usable quantities of the element. In one process, uranium gas is forced through strainers that pass U-235 more rapidly than the ordinary U-238 In a magnetic process, U-235 is trapped because its atoms curve through the electric field in a different manner than U-238 A third process obtains the element by diffusion in a liquid The processes involve thousands of steps before workable amounts are obtained. The atomic bomb puts together facts described in this "Atomic Secrets" series A gun fires masses of uranium together and an explosion follows, with nearly all the atoms splitting in one-tenth of one millionth of one second.

Holiday Sweetmeats

CITRUS FRUIT CAKE For holiday cheer.

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

As a present for your very best friend, or as the thing that'll give a gala air to your family Christmas party, there's nothing to surpass a beautiful homemade cake. It's worth going to some trouble in preparing cake and decorations to achieve the result which the recipe below gives.

Citrus Fruit Cake

Four egg whites, ½ cup sugar, 3 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 2-3 cup butter or vitaminized margarine, ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 4 egg yolks, 1 cup orange or grapefruit juice or wine, ½ pound almonds, blanched whole, 1 cup white raisins, fruit peels.

To Make Fruit Peels:

One-half pound candied orange peel (approximately 4 medium oranges), ½ pound candied lemon peel (approximately 6 lemons), ½ pound candied grapefruit peel (1 large or 2 small grapefruit), 1 orange rose, 5 grapefruit leaves.

Cut orange peel in small circles and peel one orange in shape of a rose by cutting small circle from blossom end and continuing to cut ring in single strip, evenly, to the other end, finishing off with a circle. Roll up to look like rose. Fasten with tooth picks. Cut grapefruit in small diamonds and in five rose-shaped leaves. Cut lemon peel in slivers. Boil orange, lemon and grapefruit peel separately in water, discarding one or more waters until bitterness is removed, then adding equal quantities water and white corn syrup to cover. Cook until peels are clear. Remove rose. Add a little red food coloring to orange peel circles and a little green food coloring to grapefruit peel diamonds and leaves. Let stand until desired amount of color has been absorbed. Drain. (Reserve ten orange circles, ten teaspoons lemon peel, rose and leaves for decorations on cake.)

To Make the Cake:

Beat egg whites stiff with pinch of salt. Add sugar and beat to points. Set aside. Sift and measure flour. Resift with baking powder. Cream butter or margarine, sugar, grated orange rind and egg yolks until fluffy. Add to flour mixture with fruit juice or wine and mix until batter looks smooth. Fold in egg whites. Place one-third batter in well greased casserole. Sprinkle with green grapefruit peel. Add one-third more dough and sprinkle with lemon peel, fruit and nuts. Add remaining dough and sprinkle with red orange peel. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) one and one-quarter hours. Cool.

To Decorate the Cake

Confectioner's sugar frosting or almond paste, 1 orange peel rose, 5 grapefruit rose leaves, 10 red orange circles, 10 teaspoons lemon peel.

Frost cake with thin layer of confectioner's sugar frosting or almond paste. Decorate with orange peel rose, surrounded by grapefruit leaves. Add red orange circles and lemon sliver around edge.

COURT OKAYS UNION OUSTER

Ohio Jurists' Decision Binds Workers to Endorsed Political Candidates.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, Dec 13 — An Ohio supreme court action was interpreted today as enabling a labor union to prohibit members from campaigning for political candidates other than those it has endorsed

The court refused yesterday to review an appeal from a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen who was ousted because he actively supported Republican Wendell Willkie's presidential bid in the 1940 election. The union had endorsed Franklin D. Roosevelt

Brotherhood President A. F. Whitney ousted Earl E Pfoh after Pfoh signed literature as a past president of Cleveland Local 132 telling why he intended to vote for Willkie

Reverses Union

Whitney directed that Pfoh, a member of 27 years be charged and tried by members of the local Acquitted unanimously, Pfoh was ordered by directors to be retried He was acquitted a second time by a vote of 35 to 1 but directors again reversed the lodge and Whitney ordered Pfoh dismissed.

Pfoh then sued the union on the ground he had been deprived of insurance and other benefits and common pleas court awarded him $900 An appellate court reversed the lower court and rendered final judgment for the brotherhood The supreme court subsequently refused to review Pfoh's appeal

The court in another case decided to consider on its merits the question of whether a union member receiving employment compensation must accept a non-union job, if offered, or be denied jobless benefits

The case stemmed from the refusal of Harvey E. Chambers, an idle AFL carpenter of Columbus, to accept a job in a non-union concern to which he was referred by the bureau of unemployment compensation on grounds he would be expelled from his union if he took the position.

Refused To Pay

The BUC refused to pay Chambers benefits and was upheld by the board of review. Chambers then asked common pleas court to compel payment of jobless benefits The court decided against him but an appellate court reversed the lower court

The court also agreed to hear on its merits another case involving jobless benefits

The BUC board of review asked the supreme court to decide whether workers of the Powhatan Mining Co., Belmont county, were entitled to benefits during the general Appalachian coal mine stoppage of April 2-29, 1941.

The BUC board held the miners were on strike and therefore not eligible for unemployment compensation A common pleas court reversed the board and an appellate court upheld the lower tribunal.

Auto Creates Havoc As Driver "Freezes" in Kenton Accident

Special to The Star

KENTON, Dec. 13 — A filling station put out of business, a house porch wrecked, one car demolished and another damaged were the results of an automobile accident here Wednesday morning at 4:15 as Joseph Paul Bowers of Lima lost control of his car while rounding a curve as he entered the business section of Kenton Mr Bowers and two passengers, Vice Elmore and Charles B Moling, both of Lima, escaped with minor injuries.

The car hit a porch knocking two posts out, continued across a lawn nearly striking another house and missing a tree by inches, crossed a street and completely destroyed two gas pumps of a filling station, carrying one of them 60 feet before striking a parked car. Mr Bowers said that after he hit the porch he froze to the wheel of the car and unconsciously stepped on the gas.

MICHAEL SABBACK SELLS 43-YEAR-OLD BUSINESS

Confectionery Purchased by Russell Youngblood.

After 43 years in business in the same location, Michael Sabback has sold his confectionery at 155 South Main street to Russell Youngblood of 283 Thea avenue. The change in ownership became effective Tuesday.

Mr. Sabback's plans for the immediate future include "Taking a good rest." He has no definite long range plans in mind.

He recalls that the first automobile came to Marion along about the time he and his brother Joseph opened an ice cream parlor, candy and fruit store in the city and remembers that when he started, stocks of fruit, many of them now on the scarcity list, filled the store and extended out onto the sidewalk in long racks that stretched from Church street to the first alley north of his business place.

BOY HURT NEAR ASHLEY

ASHLEY—Little David Hendricks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hendricks is recovering at his home in Leonardsburg from a deep gash on his head, received when he pulled a cabinet over on himself Friday. Three stitches were taken to close the wound. David and his mother reside with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Potter while his father is overseas.

Georg Friedrich Handel was born in Halle, Saxony, in 1685.

Fictitious Marion Airman Hero of Book "Valley of the Sky"

For those who get a kick out of seeing something about their home town in a book, "Valley of the Sky," by Hobert D. Skidmore will make good reading in addition to including several passages about a fighting but fictitious Marion youth named Johnny Curtin, sergeant in the Army Air Corps, who manages to establish a beautiful relationship with a Hawaiian beauty in between dangerous missions against the Japs, the book tells a thrilling story of the life and death adventures of a bombing crew.

The novel was published in the Armed Services Edition, read by millions of servicemen in all theaters, in addition to appearing in the regular bookstore style.

Run of Mine Guy

As the story goes, Johnny was a run of the mine sort of guy in Marion before the war, spending his time driving new Plymouths from Michigan to the local garage. He also managed to find a lot of time to spend at "Red's Place," two miles south of here.

"Life was on the sweet side; a good job, plenty of money and women and if the boss got too cranky he could tell him to go blow it." That was how Johnny felt. Then suddenly Hitler vanquished France and Johnny got the war bug.

Typically he called up his boss, Mr. Spencer:

"I ain't comin' in tomorrow x x x I'm joining the army tomorrow morning x x x Better get yourself another grease monkey."

That was the beginning of an army career that led him to as near death as men get without dying.

Vivid Descriptions

The descriptions of the feelings of airmen as they ride through heavy flak and hostile formations almost put the reader right in the plane. Equally vivid are the recollections of the men, thoughts of home, of their loved ones, as death whistles close by.

Heroine of the book is the "Heartless Harpie," the giant bomber which carries the crew.

For Christmas shoppers' information the book is published by the Houghton Mifflin Co., Boston.

Phillies Staging Campaign To Buy Way Out of Cellar

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 13—The Philadelphia Phillies do not intend to be the National league doormat any longer.

Striving to rebuild their last place club, the Phillies were the most energetic buyers of talent at the major league sessions, which closed yesterday, acquiring three players. Previously they had drafted the "Mad Russian," Lou Novikoff, an outfielding castoff of the Chicago Cubs.

The Phils laid out possibly $60,000 in the purchase of pitcher Johnny Humphries from the Chicago White Sox, first baseman Frank McCormick from the Cincinnati Reds and shortstop Lamar (Skeeter) Newsome from the Boston Red Sox. The price paid for Novikoff, drafted from Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast league, was $7,500.

Activity in the player market was the dullest in years with the result that rosters of all 16 clubs in the American and National leagues will be loaded with surplus talent in the early weeks of the 1946 season.

Reduction of income taxes after the first of the year stopped some of the clubs with actual bargains to offer from making deals. There was little object, it was pointed out, in taking money for stars in 1945 who will be just as saleable, or more so, a few weeks hence when the income tax collectors won't be dipping into the strong box so heavily. This may have accounted for the failure of the St. Louis Cardinals, with a roster of 80 players, to make sales.

Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Chicago White Sox, says the club owners will find themselves in a panic next spring.

"They're all waiting—and they'll all get stuck," Dykes said today. "I tried to trade several players and couldn't. I wanted to deal while I still could get something for them, for next spring when all the clubs find themselves overloaded, the panic will really be on."

Beau Jack To Meet Foe Tomorrow Night

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 — The "Million Dollar Kid" and the "Half-Million Dollar Kid" tangle tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden in what promises to be one of boxing's most sparkling bouts of the year.

That is one way of saying Beau Jack of Augusta, Ga., and Willie Joyce, of Gary, Ind., will meet in a 10-round bout.

Beau, former lightweight champion, drew more than $1,000,000 in gross gates during 1943 before he entered the Army while Joyce, the year's most active boxer, has pulled more than $500,000 in 14 crowds so far this year.

A crowd of around 18,000 and a $100,000 "house" is expected by Promoter Mike Jacobs.

Vet Runs 100 Yards in 13 Seconds Flat with Artificial Leg

By The Associated Press

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 13—Ward-mates registered a "show me" attitude when Larry Toscano, 21, of Lyndhurst, N. J., a below-the-knee amputee at McGuire General Hospital here, vowed that he could run the 100-yard dash in 12 seconds. He showed them—in 13 seconds on an artificial leg.

The exhibition was the result of a scheduled appearance, later cancelled, of former Lt. Bert Shepherd, who pitched for the Washington Senators last season. A war department announcement heralded a 12-second 100-yard run by Shepherd, a below-the-knee amputee.

"I got good and mad," said Toscano, former semi-professional baseball and football player in Jersey City, "when my buddies said it couldn't be done."

Toscano staged the exhibition recently on a concrete road on the hospital grounds and broke the tape in three seconds above the best time that he was able to make for the distance before losing a leg. He wore ordinary street shoes, started from a standing-up position, and spurned the suggestion of a preliminary warm-up. He had covered half the distance in five seconds.

"I felt only a little strain," he said when questioned about his condition. "My leg stood it pretty well."

Toscano, since returned to a separation center near Lyndhurst for discharge, is the holder of the Bronze Star medal for 'meritorious service' with the 10th Mountain Division in Italy, where he lost his left leg below the knee as the result of enemy artillery fire.

Art Lewis Awarded New Grid Position

By The Associated Press

LEXINGTON, Va., Dec. 13—Art Lewis, former coach of the Cleveland, O., Rams, has been named head football coach at Washington and Lee university which is resuming the sport next fall after a three-year layoff. Line coach at W. & L. before the war, Lewis succeeds Riley Smith. Lewis, a native of Carrollton, O., was a star gridder at Ohio university more than a decade ago and later coached at Ohio Wesleyan. He played pro football with the New York Giants and the Rams.

Chandler "Happy" at Last

Major League Parley Closes with Czar Still on Throne; Back-Biting Takes Back Seat.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 13—Albert B. "Happy" Chandler, commissioner of baseball, emerged today from preriding over his first joint session with the major leaguers, happily victorious and with no sniping against him.

Commissioner Chandler yesterday cast the deciding vote which will allow the clubs to play unlimited night baseball next season, although most of the clubs will continue to limit their contests to 114. The exceptions will be the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns and the Washington Senators.

It was decided to abandon twilight-night doubleheaders, unless such are made necessary to keep up with the schedule. Night encounters also will be frowned upon as Sunday and Holiday attractions. Because the two leagues could not agree on the number of after dark contests, Commissioner Chandler voted for "no restrictions," as advocated by the National league.

Chandler gained two other victories during the four hour joint session. He gained veto power over all legislation he considers detrimental to baseball but can be overruled by a three-fourths vote. The minor leaguers at their convention in Columbus, O., a week ago voted to eliminate such power.

Chandler also moved back into the $50,000 promotional program for baseball. At the Columbus convention, the promotional committee which includes the presidents of the two major leagues, announced that the $50,000 would be handled by an office separate from that of the commissioner. Yesterday the owners decided to throw the committee's action out of the window, and present a new report to Chandler at meetings to be held in New York in February.

WRESTLES LADUE TONIGHT

One of the main events at the armory tonight looks like a "Grudge Affair" when Sgt. Billy Fox locks horns with Monty LaDue. Monty, after the team match last week, challenged the Marine claiming that he would never have been beaten if Fox hadn't run his (Monty's) head into the Panther's and he also claimed this was against the rules. Well, the Marine had a different idea of it so they will have a chance to wrestle it out tonight.

The other main go brings back to Marion one of the best men to ever appear here, Walter Stratton, the former world's weight lifting champ and he will meet another former world's swimming champ in Tony Doble from Montreal. First match at 9:30. No advance in prices. Call 2745 after six for seats.—Adv.

ALABAMA TOP TEAM OVER LAST 13 YEARS IN WON-LOST SURVEY

Crimson Tide's Percentage .840; Ohio State Ninth with .750 Record.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—Alabama, Rose Bowl-bound, has compiled the best record of any college football team in the country over the last 13 years from 1933-1945, inclusive.

Over this 13-year-span the Crimson Tide, ranked second to mighty Army in the final Associated Press 1945 poll, has won 89 games, lost 17 and tied seven for a percentage of .840.

Army's sweep of its 18 games during 1944 and 1945 pulled the West Point Cadets from far down the list into the No. 12 slot at .722.

The won-lost tabulation shows another Southeastern conference eleven, Tennessee, in second place at .817 and Duke, champions of the Southern conference, third at .802. Tennessee, which did not play in 1943, has won 94, lost 21 and tied five while Duke has 97 victories, 24 defeats and two deadlocks.

Fordham, out of competition the last three years, holds fourth at .792 with Notre Dame fifth at .781. Rounding out the first ten are Duquesne (.763), another eastern team out of action the last three years, Holy Cross (.759), Santa Clara (.759), Ohio State (.750), Minnesota (.748), and Boston college (.748). Santa Clara, Duquesne and Fordham did not play in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

The following table shows the first 25 teams over the 13-year period, based on won-lost percentages (ties are disregarded):

LAYDEN HAILS RAMS, URGES MORE SPORTS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 13—Cleveland's Rams, western champions of the National Football league, made gridiron history this season by handing the Green Bay Packers and the Chicago Bears a total of four defeats, says Circuit Commissioner Elmer Layden.

At a civic testimonial dinner last night honoring the youthful league title contenders, Layden declared:

"This team has made major league football history. Any team that beats both the Green Bay Packers and the Chicago Bears twice in one season certainly has done that."

Adam Walsh, who whipped an inexperienced squad of Rams into a championship team in his first professional football coaching attempt, was hailed by Layden as "football's coach of the year."

"Walsh has done a marvelous job this season," Layden asserted.

The league commissioner appealed for more football and sports competition for youths to promote "team work, loyalty and patriotism."

GODFREY AT KENTON

KENTON, Dec. 13—Ernie Godfrey, line coach at Ohio State university, was the speaker at a football banquet in Kenton Tuesday night by the Kenton Boosters Organization for Kenton High school's football team. Three hundred fans and boys gathered to hear Mr. Godfrey and see pictures of the Ohio State-Michigan game. Don Kissling, captain of this year's football team selected George Brindley to head the 1946 Kenton gridders. Vic Dorris is the Kenton coach.

Grand Circuit Date Booked for Delaware

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 — The stewards of the Grand Circuit set the 1946 running of the Hambletonian for Aug. 7 today as they announced 23 weeks of trotting races next year on a coast-to-coast basis.

The 1946 schedule includes Delaware, O., Sept. 16-21.

ST. MARY TO INVADE LIMA COURT FRIDAY

Coach Expects Trouble But Forecasts Victory for Irish.

"We will certainly have trouble but we should win," Coach Nelson Irvin said today of the Irish chances against Lima St. Gerard Friday night. The game will be played at the Lima South gym.

Recent practice has shown great improvement, Coach Irvin said, and he will use the same starting lineup that he used against Harpster Tuesday. This is Winterstellar and Bray at forward, Moran at center and Irvin and Dunn at guards.

Coach Irvin attributed the 32 to 25 defeat by Harpster to a combination of slowness in getting started and "first game jitters." Once the varsity, four of them lettermen, settle down he expects to have a hard team to beat.

There will be no reserve game, and only the varsity will make the trip.

Harding's Presidents will be idle this week-end playing Mansfield there Dec. 21. All county basketball games scheduled for this week have been postponed because of the influenza epidemic.

Y-INDUS FIVE TOPS OSU ALL-STAR TEAM

Marionites Win Rough Clash, 44-26, at Armory Benefit.

The Y-Indus by playing a good steady brand of ball defeated a rough Ohio State All-Star team by a score of 44-26 last night at the Armory. Y-Indus No. 2 was defeated in the preliminary by a combined Martel-Kirkpatrick team, 34-21.

A good crowd of 374 paid spectators saw the benefit games. Charles Fazio of Marion, captain of the Ohio State club, introduced the members of his squad before the game got under way. Fazio and several of the OSU squad were on State's football team.

Marine Hailed As Glamour Boy of Prize Ring

ARTIE LEVINE, Fighting Marine and Brooklyn Glamour Boy.

★ ★ ★

By CHIP ROYAL
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK—The phone rang the other day and the excited voice of Nat Rogers, matchmaker for the Twentieth Century Sporting Club, started an oration on how the "plug uglies of boxing have disappeared and how the fighters of the future are going to be streamlined and handsome.

"Now take Artie Levine, the fighting Marine and the latest glamour boy of the ring," said Mike Jacobs' maker of fights. The Brooklyn golden boy is good-looking, has light hair and light skin and can punch harder with either hand than any movie hero."

With that buildup, there was only one thing to do—have a look-see and a talk with 20-year-old Artie. It was arranged.

A Right Guy

For the records, the fighting Marine is every bit of the glamour guy that Rogers says he is, and more but he's also the kind of a kid every father would like to have.

Too many youngsters today see only the rainbow in boxing. Artie wants his glory the hard way, and he intends to work for it.

It seems that when the youngest of seven Levines was 13 years old he hurt his left leg playing kid football. He contracted a bone disease and was forced to hobble about on crutches.

When Artie didn't get any better a doctor recommended that he go into a gym and work out the leg. The day prior to his Levine knew he would be meeting with the neighborhood Police Athletic League headquarters in the boxing line.

Having a choice between boxing and wrestling, the youth took a liking to swinging his fists and found that it helped to build up his leg more than anything.

Said On Fighting

"Before I knew it," explained Artie, "I was crazy about the fight game and more important than that I found I could walk again.

"Of course, I looked like I had two left feet but I could stay on them and use them along with my hands. That really saved me on fighting.

"Charley Goldman, one of the trainers saw me in a battle royal one day and when I knocked them all out including two heavyweights, he asked me how would I like to be a fighter? Of course I said yes.

"After about 30 fights in a ring with four other guys Chuck got me an outside fight in New England. I was 16 at the time and weighed 140. He kept me up there until I was 18, boxing and all comers. Then, as soon as the New York law allowed, he got me a bout here.

"We were in the war by that time and I decided I could do better by joining the Marines. It was probably the best decision I ever made in my life. Thanks to my training and some 50 odd fights in the service, I'm stronger than ever.

Has Ambitions

Asked whether he would like to follow Gene Tunney's footsteps after the first World War and win the world's boxing crown, Artie blushed and muttered:

"Sure who wouldn't like to be a champion? Like Frankie Frisch, one of my idols. I've always tried to learn something and the PAL and the Marines taught me plenty. I've put on more weight (about 160 now) and I'm still growing. Probably I could do something in the ring, but, I'd rather be a cop."

That's right. I want to be a cop, and in Brooklyn, if I can. I don't know what would have happened to me without the PAL. And that goes for a lot of other kids, too. It's the greatest organization in the world.

"You know I never got a chance to finish school. So I hope to make enough money fighting to get the education I need to join the police force. Then I'll be happy because I can help other fellows like me!"

B-G Loses Battle of Giants

Bowling Green's 6-Foot 11½-Inch Center Meets Match in De Paul Monster at Chicago.

By The Associated Press

Bowling Green State university's basketball victory parade was ended today following a "battle of giants" in which the Bee-Gees' six-foot, 11½-inch goalie-center, Don Otten, finally met his match.

The Bee-Gees, who had won eight straight including three doubleheaders this season, went down to defeat 59 to 54 before DePaul university last night in DePaul's annual invitational cage tournament in Chicago.

Famous for his ability to bat down 'goal-bound basket tosses and usually a king pin in the Bee-Gee offensive, Otten was completely outplayed by DePaul's six-foot, 9½-inch pivotman, George Mikan. The DePaul giant tossed in 21 points to lead his team's scoring and held the towering Ohioan to 13 tallies.

Forward Tom Inman topped the Bee-Gee scorers with seven field goals and four charity tosses for 18 points.

DePaul meets Washington university in the tourney's semi-finals tomorrow night, and Indiana State which whipped Hamline of St. Paul, 84-33, meets Oregon university.

Six other Ohio cage quintets saw action last night.

Defiance journeyed across the border to Upland, Ind., to hang a 61-21 defeat on Taylor university. Defiance's towering center, Smith, bagged 27 markers to lead the scoring.

John Carroll's Blue Streaks staged a 37-point, last half offensive to down the Army's Crile hospital five, 61 to 34, at Cleveland. The Streaks held a slim 24-23 margin at the half.

Capital trampled Denison, 70 to 38, at Columbus in a game marred by 46 personal fouls, and Ohio Northern thumped Bluffton, 47-31.

STOCKS REGAIN SOME LOSSES

Selected Rails, Aircrafts and "Blue Chip" Industrials Win Buying Favor.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—Buying of selected rails, aircrafts and "blue chip" industrials helped the stock market regain some of its equilibrium today although many leaders still displayed rising antipathy.

Accounts were reinstated here and there on the idea Wednesday's fall had aided the market's technical position. Dividends, earnings and the urge to get idle funds working served to drop individual issues.

Prices began to harden here and there after a lower opening. Dealings slowed on the revival. Advances of fractions to a point were well distributed near the fourth hour with a few "thin" stocks such as Allied Chemical and Dow Chemical up 3 and 4.

St. Paul Railway common (when issued) touched a new high. Ahead the greater part of the time were Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Bethlehem, Goodrich, Boeing, United Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, Budd Mfg. and Shamrock Oil. Occasional stumbles included U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Packard, Sperry, Eastman Kodak, Radio Corp., Phelps Dodge, General Electric, Westinghouse and International Harvester.

Program Presented by Martel Grange

Martel Grange presented a program Tuesday night at Whetstone Grange in Crawford county. The program included a vocal solo and quartet number, a skit, "The Neglected Lady," readings and accordion numbers.

Taking part in the program were: Mrs. Pauline Hedding, Mrs. Kenneth McKinstry, Mrs. Anna Hedding, Mrs. Ruth Holtsberry, Mrs. Will Neff, Mrs. Minnie Guinther, Mrs. Ada Baldinger, Mrs. Elma Downs, Mrs. Margaret Rorick, Mrs. Myrtle Midlam, Mrs. Charles Manring, Mrs. Mable Pangborn, Kathryn McKinstry, Shirley and Lois Pangborn, Dan Downs, James Midlam, Will Neff, Richard Baldinger, Kenneth Pangborn, Ivan Downs and Everett Douce.

Mrs. Z. A. Emahiser, in charge of the program, was assisted by Mrs. Elma Downs and Ivan Downs. Refreshments were served by ladies of the Whetstone Grange. The next meeting of Martel Grange will be Jan. 8 when the installation of officers will be held. Plans for a miscellaneous shower were announced honoring Mr. and Mrs. Ben Dilsaver who were recently married. Mrs. Dilsaver was the former Miss Luella Guinther of the Whetstone community.

Jobless Total Takes Big Cut

Report Reconversion Unemployment 30 to 40 Per Cent Under Early Estimates.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 — The impact of peace on joblessness is 30 to 40 per cent lighter than reconversion officials anticipated.

Fewer lay-offs in industry and an unexpectedly high and sustained rate of buying are among factors that have prompted key federal economists to offer this improved employment outlook:

By year's end, the total of actual and potential job-seekers will be 4,000,000 at the most, one-third less than had been predicted for that date when hostilities ceased.

May Be Year's Peak

By next March the jobless will number not more than 5,000,000. This may be the peak of 1946.

After hovering around that mark until about June the total may begin to decline as civilian manufacturing hits full stride.

The totals fal far short of Reconversion Director John W. Snyder's estimate, on October 1, that unemployment would hit 8,000,000 by spring.

The happier outlook may bring a different sort of problem, Price Administrator Chester Bowles has indicated. He said Monday that the continued high rate of employment was adding to inflationary pressure, making it harder to end price controls.

Two factors now are seen as holding down the curve of unemployment.

First was the tendency of employers to hang on to their help even when war orders were canceled, in order to have workers when the production lines were ready to make civilian goods.

Second, consumer purchasing continues to run ahead of expectations and continue for months since the public so far has had little chance to replace worn-out appliances and clothes.

On the other side of the ledger are these items: That employment will not rise as rapidly as production; that the flow of homecoming veterans will continue heavy into March; that many of the women who quit the working force may decide again to quit the kitchen; that consumers may run out of savings or decide to stop spending them.

RYE PRICES FOLLOW UNCERTAIN TREND

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 13—Rye futures prices bobbed around uncertainly in a fairly broad range today.

Response to minor influences, light liquidation sent prices downward as much as 1½ cents in early trading before a rally carried them around two cents above yesterday's close. Another setback wiped out all but fractional gains.

Some scattered buying of wheat and oats tilted prices fractionally higher most of the time.

WAR

the Malay barrier was vital to security of the United Kingdom but "of 48 British naval vessels available in the eastern theater only three British vessels are to operate in the vicinity of the Malay barrier.

"No British vessels whatsoever," they added, "are committed to the naval defense of the barrier against Japanese naval forces advancing southward, nor to offensive operations designed to close the passages of the barrier to the passage of Japanese raiders.

"All British naval forces are assigned to escort and patrol work, most of them at great distances from the position which the British chiefs of staff have asserted to be 'vital.'"

Marshall and Stark objected, too, that it was proposed to put strategical command of American naval units under the British commander-in-chief, China station, to a degree which was never contemplated by this country and to put all Air Forces under a commander-in-chief, Far East, with headquarters at Singapore.

TOAD PRE-EMPTS BIRDHOUSE

By The United Press

INDIANAPOLIS—Chet Harrison of Indianapolis investigated when the wrens vacated the birdhouse he built above his grape arbor. He found a fat toad had dispossessed them. Harrison could explain the toad's presence eight feet above the ground only by the conclusion that a bird must have carried it up there when it was small. It had grown twice as large as the opening of the birdhouse and was imprisoned inside.

1940 DELUX

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

My mother-in-law's voice was sonorous as it intoned a fervent "Thank God!" when Faith finished her slangy little speech.

I knew that Dicky was echoing the words in his heart, but while I was glad Junior and Roderick were exonerated, I felt no special reason for thanksgiving, chiefly because I never had doubted that Faith had heard purely by accident the words which had so jarred us when her childish lips had uttered them.

But Faith paid no heed to her grandmother's words. Freed from the fear of punishment, she was glorying in the limelight in which she was bathed, and went glibly on with her story.

"Rod said: 'Oh, Lord have mercy! Look who's been listening,' and Jun said: 'I know, but it wouldn't matter, it's no secret, only Mums will kill us for talking that way before her. She never forgets anything, you know.'

"They meant me, Mummy," Faith went on, consciously preening herself now. "Then Junior took me by the arms and told me those were awful bad words, not swearing, or dirty, but coarse. He said big boys and men talked that way, but that nice ladies and girls didn't, and especially little girls like me. He said that if you ever heard me say them, you'd wash my mouth out with soap. Then he wanted me to promise I never would say those words again, and I told him I would promise if he would tell me what welcher was. I knew what the other words meant, but I didn't know that one."

There were hastily applied handkerchiefs again to the mouths of the group back of her, but I did not dare to smile.

"Did he tell you what that word meant?" I asked hastily.

Calm Answer

"Sure thing," Faith said calmly. "He had to, didn't he, 'cause he didn't want you to know I'd heard those coarse words?"

I nodded, for speech was failing me, and she went on:

"He said there were two kinds of welchers, one, somebody that went back on a promise, and he said that was the kind of rat he and Rod were talking about. And then he said that another kind of welcher was a person that made a bet, and then, if he lost, tried to get out of paying it. That's what Daddy meant, wasn't it, when he paid you the dollar, and said you couldn't say he ever welched on a bet?"

"Yes, darling," I said, "and now that you have explained everything, I think you may go back and climb into Daddy's wheel chair again."

Suddenly Troubled

But she did not rush away as I expected. Instead, she stood still, looking at me with eyes suddenly troubled again.

"What is it, darling?" I asked gently.

"I broke my promise to Junior, and said those words," she said. "But I didn't mean to, they slipped out. Do I have to tell him about it?"

I wondered, as I answered her, if I weren't substituting sophistry for truth. My Puritan ancestors, I knew, would be whirling in their graves at my reply. But with the exigencies of my many responsibilities upon me, I decided to let them keep on whirling.

"No, I don't think you need to tell him about it," I said judicially. "You see, if you had meant to say the words, then you would have been very naughty, and you would have broken your promise besides. Then, of course, you would have had to tell him. But the way it happened, you never would have thought of the words if Daddy hadn't said the word 'welch.' That brought everything back to your mind, and before you knew it, you said the words. So I think we'll all forget you said them, and you must forget, too. Don't ever think of them again, and you needn't tell the boys."

Adult Phraseology

"Oh, Gee!" she exclaimed, and then added one of her laughable imitations of adult phraseology.

"You don't know what a weight that is off my mind," she said, with so accurate an imitation of her grandmother's voice and manner, that the doughty dowager had difficulty repressing a laugh.

Katharine rose, as Faith ran back to Dicky, and crossed to my mother-in-law.

"Dear Madam Graham," she said, "one of the maxims of my profession is 'A good nurse never diagnoses, and never prescribes.' But I'm going to do both right now. You've been through enough today to floor a strong woman of thirty. You must be terribly tired. And Madge has the keys to your nice new apartment close to her hand. Won't you let me go over there with you, and help you with anything you wish, so that you can lie down and sleep for awhile?"

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M. D.

Muscle Paralysis

Neuritis means inflammation of a nerve. Neuralgia means pain in a nerve. Probably the most severe type of nerve pain is called tic douloureux which occurs in the nerve of the face.

Another type of nerve disorder, not associated with pain, is known as Bell's palsy. It is a condition in which there is inflammation of the facial nerve. This disorder appears suddenly, often after exposure to cold. In some instances, the patient may not be aware of the disorder until somebody tells him, or he looks in a mirror, when he discovers that his face is drawn to one side.

The condition causes paralysis of certain of the muscles in the face. This type of paralysis usually gets well in from three to ten weeks, but occasionally requires a longer period of time. It will be found that the patient cannot raise the eyebrow on the affected side or close his eyelid and he is unable to draw back the corners of his mouth. In some cases, there may also be a loss of the sense of taste on one side of the tongue.

In treating Bell's palsy, massage and electrical treatments are often helpful in clearing up the condition. It must be remembered that there are a number of conditions which may produce paralysis of the face, such as tumors of the brain or hemmorrhage into the brain, but Bell's palsy is by far the most frequent cause.

Neuritis may be caused by conditions such as diphtheria, lead poisoning or excessive use of alcoholic beverages. It may also occur in such conditions as gout and diabetes. An important cause of neuritis is a lack of certain vitamins, particularly vitamin B-1 or thiamin.

In neuritis, occurring in persons who use alcoholic beverages to excess, the inflammation of the nerves is also probably due in part to a vitamin deficiency, particularly a lack of vitamin B-1. The administration of vitamin B-1 in large doses helps overcome the condition.

Neuritis has many causes and may produce a variety of symptoms. It requires careful study to determine the source of the condition before the most effective treatment can be employed.

E. L.: Is it harmful to take small amounts of iodine for an overactive thyroid gland?

Answer: Iodine, for treating thyroid disease, should be employed only under the directions of a physician and in the dose which he advises. When used properly it is beneficial and not harmful.

And Nothing Can Be Done About It

By H. T. Webster

LISTEN TO THIS, LAURA. IT'S A PIP. A SCOUT FOR ONE OF THE BIG EASTERN TEAMS WAS DRIVING THROUGH THE SMOKY MOUNTAINS ONE DAY, AND HE CAME UPON A LANKY BOY STANDING IN THE ROAD. THE BOY'S ATTENTION WAS CENTERED ON A SQUIRREL IN THE TOP OF A TALL PINE SEVERAL HUNDRED FEET AWAY
SUDDENLY THE BOY LET FLY WITH HIS LEFT HAND AND A STONE WENT TRUE TO IT'S MARK, STRUCK THE SQUIRREL SQUARELY IN THE HEAD AND THE STUNNED ANIMAL DROPPED. THE BASEBALL SCOUT WHISTLED. "WHEW!" SAID HE, CALLING TO THE LAD. "SAY, BOY, DO YOU WANT TO GO ALONG WITH ME AND MAKE A LOT OF MONEY? I'LL MAKE YOU THE GREATEST LEFT-HANDED PITCHER IN THE BUSINESS!"
"BUT AH AIN'T LEF'-HANDED," THE YOUTH REPLIED. "WHY," THE SCOUT SAID, "I JUST SAW YOU BEAN THAT SQUIRREL — A GOOD 300 FEET — WITH YOUR LEFT HAND!" "YEAH," REPLIED THE BOY, "AM THROWN WITH TH' LEF' HAND 'CAUSE AH DIDN'T WANNA MESS 'IM UP MUCH — AH'M REALLY RIGHT-HANDED."
WHAT HAPPENED THEN? DID THE BOY GET A JOB ON A BASEBALL TEAM? I THINK THAT BOY HAD A CRUEL, MURDER-HITTING SQUIRREL WITH STONES THAT WAY. HE SHOULD HAVE BEEN REPORTED

INDUSTRIAL COUNCIL OF C. OF C. MEETS AT Y

Formation of Citywide Safety Group Discussion.

The Industrial Safety Council of the Marion Chamber of Commerce met at noon Wednesday in the Y. M. C. A. Chairman Thad Kuenzli presided and announced the November safety standings for members of the council.

The committee appointed to contact the various organized business-labor and all other civic or interested groups to ascertain their interest in the formation of a citywide Safety Council, reported a most favorable reaction and willingness to cooperate. The committee was then instructed by motion to make necessary arrangements for the holding of an organization meeting of the representatives of all groups interested, at an early date. Members of this committee are Arthur Peterson, Universal Cooler company; James Lytle, Marion Reserve Power company; Paul Dowler, American Malleable Casting company; Otis Porter, Marion Water company; Thad Kuenzli, Huber Manufacturing company; Neil Smith, the Osgood company, and H. E. Webster, Chamber of Commerce.

Winter hazards in industrial plants caused by the closing of doors and windows, and precautions to take were discussed.

Marion Automobile Club To Move Before Jan. 1

The Marion Automobile club will move from its present location at 172 East Center street across the street to No. 177 before Jan. 1, M. E. Baldwin, secretary, said today.

With production of automobiles resumed, the club anticipated much greater activity than during the war years and is planning to install better facilities in its new quarters. A revival of the school boy safety patrol program, which lapsed during the war, is contemplated as soon as arrangements can be made.

Ohio Hogs "Satisfied" on Raisins and Figs

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Raisins and figs are being fed some 550 hogs on T. J. Ketner's farm and the porkers love them.

Ketner obtained the delicacies—250 tons — from the Columbus Army Service Forces depot for about one-half cent a pound after the medical corps declared them contaminated with weevil.

Ketner says the feeding value is only 40 to 50 per cent of the value of corn. Hauling and handling the raisins and figs adds to the overall price so maybe it isn't a good bargain, but he added:

"The hogs seem satisfied."

A Challenge to All of Us

THE threatened spread of postwar strikes to the steel industry, the foundation of the industrial organization of the United States, is a challenge to all of us.

It is a challenge to understand what is behind work stoppages that cut off wages and production—and to understand the potential consequences if the collapse of industrial discipline keeps on spreading.

It is a challenge to think through the economic relationships of management, labor, politics, capital, industrial unionism to the future of the United States. Either we will reduce the frictions that have been increasing dangerously within the American system, or the frictions will ruin the system.

More than steel, automobiles, automobile parts, glass and mere items of production are involved in arguments over wage contracts and the rights of management and labor. The welfare of the whole people is affected. Work stoppages and bad industrial relations are not things that happen in a vacuum; they have direct and heavy bearing on the general welfare.

This country is going to have a boom or a depression, depending on how smart it is able to be, collectively. It is going to move into a postwar world almost as fine as the world it has dreamed about, or it is going to move into a postwar world that will be a mockery of all promises of a better future. We cannot temporize with our economic fate. Every decision we make will have an influence on the future—whether good or bad.

In steel, in automobiles, in general industry, in agriculture and in all the ways of American enterprise, there are right and wrong answers. There is no one so wise he has a monopoly on the right answers, or so stupid or malicious he has a monopoly on the wrong ones, either. There must be a meeting of minds, not only on relatively unimportant questions of agreements between labor and management but on the tremendously important question of America's future—the future of all of us.

Some leaders in Japan are trying to determine whether Emperor Hirohito helped push their country into war. At any rate, there is no evidence to show that he ever joined in an enthusiastically vigorous heave-ho in the other direction.

Reliable Estimate

THE Nuernberg testimony of the German army's chief of intelligence on the military rating of the American army in World War II backs up the unofficial estimate of American civilians.

There were brief moments of doubt when civilians realized the heavy handicap that lack of preparation placed on their troops. But from the beginning of the war, it never was doubted that American men would develop the fighting skill and military leadership to defeat what had been acclaimed with good cause as the world's strongest army.

Gen. Marshall, in his final report as chief of staff, pointed out that in the showdown, while the back of the German army had been broken on the Russian front, United States fighting men were at least the equal and often the superior of the finest German troops. Lacking the long training and sometimes lacking the special equipment that had made the German army insuperable in the early part of the war, Americans showed an amazing aptitude for mechanical warfare. They lacked the unlimited manpower of the Russians, the preparation of the Germans, the fighting incentive of the British, but by the end of the war they were the world's most formidable fighting force in the opinion of the German general who was assigned the duty of finding out how good they were, they were even better than they needed to be—which squares with unofficial judgment. There has been no direct word from Japan, but there doesn't need to be any. Starting with Bataan and going step by step through three years and a few odd months of fighting in which Japan had the advantage of fighting always from prepared positions, the United States fighting forces in the Pacific were so far superior that the enemy never had a chance. With more alertness at the beginning, the war with Japan might have been won in a year, instead of three and one-half years.

The U. S. Employment Service announces that we're reducing our output of atomic bomb materials. What a grand feeling it would be to know that this means the need for laying up a store of the bombs is diminishing.

Propaganda War Shapes Up in Usual Form.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 — The war which the CIO declared upon President Truman for daring to suggest fact-finding on threats of national strikes is developing covertly upon the familiar pattern of the pressure-propaganda wars of the Roosevelt administration.

It got started promptly this week, the first I personally noticed of it was Monday morning, when the incoming mail on my desk included ten letters of the old "you so-and-so" type. Since Mr Truman came into office these had become practically extinct.

My own minor section of the vox pop had reflected a unanimity of appeal toward reasoning and fairness. Then all of a sudden there developed this wash of diatribe trivia in typical style, not against any point in particular. The venom glands of the minority vox pop quite apparently are being released.

Some editors informed me their own "Letters to the Editor" features were suddenly being used for similar denunciations, not only of the President, but even down to obscure persons who merely had been known to favor his mild solution of the problem

These manifestations betray the usual propaganda technique of organized drives, although so far this one seems less widespread and less effective than those of Roosevelt times.

Cry of Slavery

The theme for the war is being set at a rather high pitch. The premise publicly fixed by the auto union leaders is that fact-finding before strikes would be "slavery."

Of course the railroad brotherhoods have grown into the strongest and richest of all the unions in 19 years under this same fact-finding and cooling-off "slavery," but this fact is rarely mentioned while the thought that the Truman proposal is vicious is continuously dinned into the popular ear and eye.

You can see more fully what is being done in the work of a lady columnist who has been used for years to promote these drives under her own name, she says:

"I think we had better watch out for enslavement from the Fascist side," and urges that no curtailments of any union activities be attempted for fear of promoting Fascism

This propaganda represents no development from the old, familiar themes, which went over so well with the public when a Fascist power existed in the world particularly in Germany and Italy

But now that the world Fascist leaders are condemned to the gallows or worse, hardly any reasonable person can awaken in the morning, all atremble, to pray that this day will save him from enslavement by non existant Fascists. A senator promises the lady 10 cents a head for every American Fascist she can name. Chasing Fascist hobgoblins is a dead sport.

Never So Popular

The truth is democracy has never been so popular in modern times as it is in this country today, and I mean pure American democracy, in contradistinction to the Communist or Fascist (they have reichstags) type.

The war on Truman therefore is not going well in congress where the issue will be decided. (While the campaign is aimed at the President, the matter is technically out of his hands).

In congress the CIO has found no hope except to delay or amend the proposal. All along a majority has been ready to vote some such mild restraint on strikes as this, or much stronger ones.

The Republicans and party-Democrats generally want something much stronger. Administration inside opposition previously prevented action Its assumption of leadership on this issue leaves the unions bloc alone. In the senate this would not rustle over 15 votes of the 96 on a straight-cut; in the house the percentage would be higher, but no more effective.

Thus the unions have been forced to restrain themselves to trying to throw the matter over beyond the Christmas holidays by warning against haste while organizing their propaganda. This is the best they can do.

Take a Victory Bond—It's Free

By Bruce Barton in Reader's Digest.

I HAVE heard people sigh at word of the Victory Loan campaign and say, "I suppose I have to buy another bond. But I don't see how I can afford it."

This is just like saying, "I suppose I really ought to start saving money, but it's an awfully expensive thing to do!"

The fact is, of course, that you don't buy bonds. As W. B. Barbman, a Detroit writer, forcefully pointed out the other day, the speakers on the radio and the poster artists and the advertising writers have been using the wrong word for four long years. They have been asked the public to do something that is impossible. You can't spend money on bonds. You simply take them. They cost you nothing. My E bonds are nothing but certificates showing that the Barton family has made a deposit in the U. S. Treasury instead of in a bank or a cookie jar. When we take an E bond, we tranfer a bank deposit to the safest depository in the world—the U. S. Treasury. We put in noninterest notes and we get an interest-bearing note as our deposit slip!

To take a bond—note that word "take"—is still a patriotic act. That alone is inducement enough for any American. Just as your money in the bank pays for loans and investments and all the bank's manifold activities, so your money in the U. S. Treasury helps to care for the wounded, to end war contracts, to maintain armies of occupation, to bring home returning fighters, to prevent inflation. Your bonds brought about the mighty atomic blasts that put a period to this war. Your bonds today are returning flesh to the bones of those who survived wounds or prison-camp torture—of Wainwright, of Boyington, of unknown thousands of our men who played their own gallant parts in the total defeat of our enemies.

And yet you can count on getting back $4 for every $3 you put in!

So get bonds today—get them regularly—and hold onto them. That is about as close as you are likely to come in this life to having your cake and eating it too.

Supremacy

Wise heads are wagging over the supposition that Gen Douglas A. MacArthur was responsible for the destruction of the Japanese cyclotrons. The blame being heaped on him by persons who feel the equipment should have been salvaged belongs somewhere else, because the fact is that Gen. MacArthur bears the title of supreme commander while the authority resides in Washington.

The record shows that Gen. MacArthur refused to take responsibility for an order to destroy the four cyclotrons and passed the buck back to Washington, where the order originated. He was dealing, of course, with the War Department, which prepares all the major directives under which he is administering Japanese affairs. Actually, the supreme commander, so-called, is supreme only in deciding how he will carry out his orders.

Or, in the absence of orders, he is supreme in the blame he bears for things that go wrong. Many ammunition ships reached Japan after V-J day. Gen. MacArthur lacks authority to dump the ammunition and send them home with returning troops. But, being supreme commander, he gets the blame for letting them lie at anchor while troops are told there is a shipping shortage

Hunter's Luck

PLATTE VALLEY, Neb. — While hunting, Bob Lorentzen got a sandbur in his mitten and tried to remove it with his teeth.

At the same time he took a deep breath. The sandbur went down his throat and Lorentzen went to a hospital to have it removed from his lung.

Desert Discovery

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Arizona—Proof that many animals of the desert can sustain life on the moisture derived from foodstuffs alone now has been established.

In experiments continuing since 1930 Dr Charles Vorhies of the University of Arizona has confirmed that drinking water is not required by millions of kangaroo rats, wood rats, ground squirrels, jack rabbits and possibly other animals of the southwest, although they are no different structurally than any other animal.

"There is hardly a more intriguing or less understood problem of the arid regions of the world than that of the means by which some of the animals of these areas exist without visible sources of water supply," says Dr. Vorhies

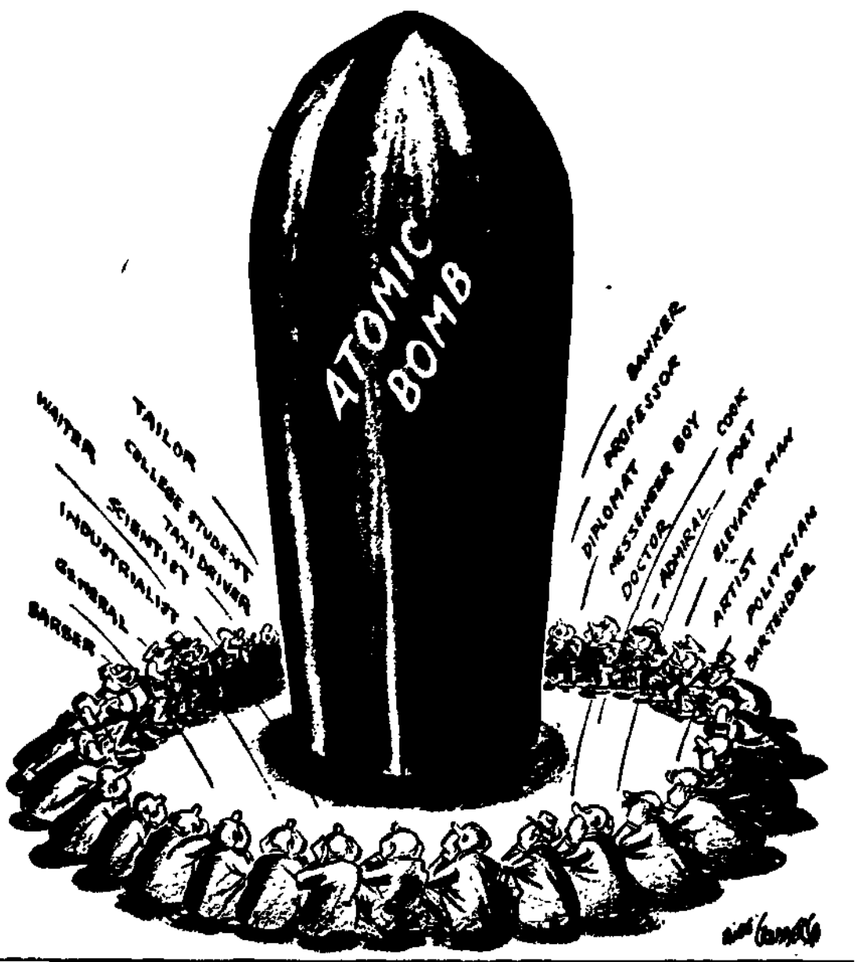
"The prairie dog, obviously anchored to its villages or 'towns' and unable to go miles for drink, was for many years supposed to 'burrow down to water.' Not until more scientifically minded men determined the actual burrow depth of 12 to 14 feet and pointed out that near the rim of the Grand Canyon, where the nearest water is a 'mile down,' prairie dogs nevertheless lived contentedly, did we begin to seek another answer," says Dr. Vorhies.

Dr. Vorhies' studies were inaugurated with a battery of climatic instruments set up in and around a typical mound of the kangaroo rat, which look like tiny kangaroos from three to seven inches long.

Although the surface soil outside their dens reached 155 degrees in summer, although they lived on a diet with a high proportion of air-dry foods—mainly seeds—these animals never take any drinking water.

Eighty-four per cent of the U. S. population lived in electrically lighted houses in 1940.

STUMPED!



From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Dec. 13, 1935.

The second and last Friday the 13th for 1935 was marked off the calendar. One new Marion resident joined the ranks of the Friday and Thirteenth birthday celebrators when a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Wilhelm of 144 East Farming street. Raymond Fout of North State street reached his majority and joining him at a family dinner was his uncle, Forest Fout of the Hillman-Ford road, who also was celebrating his birthday anniversary, and Billy Gries, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gries of Courtland terrace, celebrated his fourteenth birthday anniversary by attending classes in the ninth grade at Vernon Heights school.

The city of Marion sold $125,000 worth of deficiency bonds to Von Lahn, Doll & Ipshording, Inc., Cincinnati investment brokers, thereby clearing the way for past operating deficits. The Cincinnati firm was one of two bidders for the issue.

Christmas boxes were packed for veterans' homes at Chillicothe, Dayton and Sandusky at a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, and the group voted to buy and dress 25 dolls for the annual children's community Christmas party.

The drying of Lima beans and sweet corn was responsible for two fires near Marion. A small home-operated foundry plant on the White Oaks road was destroyed by fire that spread from a stove to a blanket on which Lima beans were being dried. The loss was estimated at $3,000 by R. L. Snyder, owner of the foundry. At the home of County Farm Agent S. L. Anderson on East Church street, sweet corn drying on top of a furnace caught fire and the flames spead to the floor above, causing damage amounting to $500.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Tracy, who were to leave early in the new year to make their home in Toledo, were complimented with a dinner at Hotel Harding by a group of friends with whom they played bridge.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Dec. 13, 1925.

Steps were taken by the congregation of the First Reformed church in arrangements for building a new $75,000 edifice Samuel Keller was elected chairman of the building committee and John M. Brigel, secretary. Other members of the committee were E. L. Cleveland, Ray Reidenbaugh and Harry Wires.

A pageant, "The Fruits of Peace," was presented by members of Epworth league in place of the regular Sunday night service at Epworth church.

Leonard Young and Fulton Hume, students at Oberlin college, spent the week-end with Mr. Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Young of South Prospect street and Mr Hume's aunt, Miss Sada Hume of South State street.

H. C. Lawler and B. J. Lawler of San Francisco were guests of their father, M. S. Lawler of Chestnut street.

Mrs. W. Hart Johnston, 53, died suddenly at her home in LaRue.

Principle, but No Philosophy

By Raymond Moley

FROM my observation in and around the sessions of the Republican National Committee, two distinct impressions remain—one favorable; the other, unfavorable.

The first impression comes from the fact that Committee members, from Chairman Herbert Brownell down, are not interested in 1948 candidates. They see as their immediate job the restoration of public confidence in the Republican party as the official opposition and, following that, the capture, in 1946, of the house of representatives and possibly of the senate. On the present basis of membership, 27 new seats in the house and nine in the senate must be gained to achieve that goal. Republicans will concentrate on what they call the "marginal seats," numbering 134 in the house and 30 in the senate.

Wise Decision

The disposition to ignore 1948 until after the election in 1946 is wise. It is not easy to make this decision, for the disposition of every amateur in politics is to speculate here and now only on names of putative Presidential candidates. Such speculation is not only irrelevant but nonsensical. When I was asked, for the hundreth time, the familiar, "Who do you think will get the Republican nomination in 1948?" I improvised this answer: "Can you design the hat your wife will be wearing on Easter Sunday, 1948?"

There is pertinence in the comparison, because there is style in candidates, as there is in hats. Political style is determined by many factors — the economic weather, the international outlook, the fading popularity of older favorite personalities, the many subtle and indefinable currents in public opinion and the character of the prospective candidate of the party in power. Mr. Willkie won his nomination because he seemed to be a good opponent for the inevitable Mr. Roosevelt.

New Stars Arise

The most important reason why it is too early to think about candidates is that nobody can tell what personalities will arise from the 1946 election. There will be many new faces in officialdom. Woodrow Wilson and Judson Harmon emerged in 1910 and became contenders in 1912. No one would have suspected, in 1917, that Calvin Coolidge was even vice presidential material. Franklin Roosevelt loomed up after his reelection as governor in 1930. Figures other than governor, mayors or senators may appear. The present popularity of great generals may pass. A lowly figure from Army or Navy ranks may emerge. In short, we can't even speculate now, for the materials for speculation do not exist. And so the Republican National Committee members refuse to speculate.

But another aspect of the Chicago meeting was not so heartening as the refusal to discuss candidates. The Republican party's statement of principles followed the routine line of political platforms. A series of principles, however, does not make a party philosophy. There is nothing in the statement to answer the question in many minds about whether the Republican party is to be merely an opposition to all that Democrats try to do or whether it is to follow the New Deal, with several reservations.

The point is that a Republican philosophy can be created which is neither an indorsement of a modified New Deal nor a return to utter and rugged individualism.

The Republican party, must, if it is to capture public support, find a third way, and it has not yet found it.

Foreign Influence

By The Associated Press

LISBONFALLS, Me.—"It isn't always smart to write a book," asserted John Gould, editor of the weekly Lisbon Enterprise. Author of "The Farmer Takes a Wife," Gould blamed "foreigners" for most of the troubles springing from his literary career.

Identifying the foreigners as "folks who live outside Lisbon Falls," he said: "They expect an author to neglect his work and start on a speaking tour." The editor, though, is "getting a large list of subscribers from all over the United States who had never heard of Lisbon Falls."

These "foreigners," he explained, had to pay twice the normal rate—because they are beyond the normal territory.

The shopping centers of America are resounding with the cries of "We have just begun to fight!" Darn the elevator operators, [illegible] ahead!" and "The only good Indian is a dead Indian."

• • •

The answer to why we were four years winning the war is out. It was because the Christmas shoppers were never drafted.

You would think from the frenzied way they go at shopping this year that Lana Turner was starring in it, and that the stores were giving away free dishes.

Navy could have licked West Point, and held it scoreless, if it had picked its backfield in the toy department.

• • •

The stores seem short of everything, and prices are the highest in years, but the buyers hear the line, let the help fall where it may.

A Straight One

By Truman Twill

These objections may be overruled but they come from the heart. We object to the seasonal first picture of a seminaked cutie gingerly patting a snow man. We object to the photographer who used that old chestnut for want of a better idea, and we feel sorry for the goose-pimpled little fluff who had to hold still for such a fatuous fantasy. We also object in behalf of the snow man. The whole thing left him cold too.

We object to the latest, all preceding and forthcoming pictures of seminaked cuties pretending to be happy in piles of oranges, peaches, grapefruit, apples, coconuts, tangerines, muskmelons, watermelons, plums, pears, grapes, cherries, vegetables, oysters or what have you on the pretext they have been elected the queen of that particular fruit or vegetable We say that these elections are fixed, that the pictures are a strain on the people's patience and that it must be darned uncomfortable to sit on a fruit or a vegetable.

We object to seminaked cuties making the Christmas wreaths, Easter eggs, Fourth of July firecrackers, Halloween pumpkins, Thanksgiving turkeys or any of the other holiday symbols that year in and year out are matched up with curvaceous babes in advanced stages of undernourishment in the mistaken conviction that this is what the public wants and is going to get.

We object to seminaked cuties posing as models of new automobiles. We object on the simple grounds that nothing could be more absurdly artificial than an undressed female pretending she is about to go for a spin on the highway, because it is well and universally known that women always prefer to have something between them and mohair or leather upholstery, as the case may be.

We object to seminaked cuties lending their obvious charms to the come-hither pamphlets of chambers of commerce in the deep south and the far west where men are men etc We object on the grounds that this is misleading advertising, because suckers think the cuties go with the American plan at these places and are disillusioned when they learn that seminaked cuties are merely photographic come-on furnished at so much per hour by model agencies.

We object to seminaked cuties having their pictures taken for any purpose other than the purpose they are visibly capable of fulfilling, which is to please the eye. The photographers can keep the snow men, fruit and vegetables. Easter eggs, Christmas wreaths, new go-devils and upper [illegible] climates out of it. In short, we object to cluttering up photographic art with extraneous stuff that is irrelevant, immaterial, inconsequential and insidious. We'll take our cheesecake straight.

Customers Still Line Up To Get Cherished Nylons

There was something besides snow in the air this morning—news that nylon hose were to be had at Uhler's. Secretaries and other business gals together with their bosses and executives deserted offices and telephones to take their places in the long queues that lined the aisles as clerks doled out the individual pairs—one to a customer—36 dozen pairs of 'em.

It was the second such sale at a Marion store since the nylons came back on the market after the end of the war.

It was a deep, dark secret, in fact just about three person in the store knew of the arrival of the shipments but it got noised about the city and the lines started forming as soon as the doors opened this morning. The stock lasted about an hour. It was a jolly holiday crowd and the would-be customers apparently did not mind standing in line too much.

To be sure, there were lots of folks who were too far back in line to be in on the sale but so far as can be learned they took it good naturedly and hoped for better luck next time.

A few pairs of nylons were on sale Tuesday morning at the J. C. Penney Co. store. As the news spread calls were received throughout the day, but customers received a negative answer as the hose, which were placed on sale when the store opened in the morning, lasted only a few minutes.

With companies getting back into civilian production dealers indicate that it looks like nylons are here to stay.

CLASS GIVES PARTY FOR HOME CHILDREN

Baptist Church Group Entertains Sunday School.

The Rayl class of Trinity Baptist church entertained children of the Sunday school of the Marion county Children's home in the church parlors Tuesday night and the children took part in a program. The class sponsors the Sunday school project at the home. Members of the class brought the children to the church and a treat was presented them. Class members and children present numbered 95.

Talks were given by Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Forry and Mrs. Gail Smith, all of whom have been employes at the home. Mrs. J. R. McCain, general chairman of the Sunday school project for the home, also spoke. Joan Smith played a piano solo, talks were given by A. J. Tower and Mrs. A. M. Bailey, and Dr. Bailey told a Christmas story. Mrs. Alma Drake was chairman for the program. A whistling solo was presented by Mrs. Gail Smith and Mrs. George Barnhart played a piano solo.

Children of the home taking part in the program included Nellie Hogue and Ernestine Furniss, duet; Bobby Manly, Robert Anthony, Paul Jett, Charles Arndt, Gerald Romano, assisted by Nellie Hogue and Ernestine Furniss, chorus; Grace Anthony, Mary McKnight, Glenna Miller, Patty Amrine, Garnet Anthony, Mildred Tnracker, Thelma Cramer and Lillian Latta, chorus.

The singing was accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Metz, matron of the home. Refreshments in keeping with the season were served with Mrs. Walter Bibler in charge. A Christmas tree and lights decorated the room. During the business session of the entertaining class it was voted to buy a victory bond for the church, and a report was made of 119 personal calls and 44 telephone calls for the month.

PICKETING

of a fact-finding board in the GM dispute was expected to hasten the efforts of both parties to reach an agreement over the bargaining table.

The union bitterly opposed government intervention but UAW President R. J. Thomas and Vice President Walter P. Reuther promptly agreed to "get all the facts" before the board in time for its first meeting in Washington next Wednesday.

General Motors was lukewarm to the President's proposal, which would empower the board to delve into its books.

Ford Statement

After its last conference with the union the Ford Co. said in a statement.

"Three or four months ago, we at the Ford Motor Co. believed we would be in full production by this time. We thought we would have produced 80,000 automobiles. Actually we are not much farther ahead than we were then—Ag[illegible] made [illegible] 20,000 automobiles." (A later total raised the figure to 25,897.)

We can't understand why the [illegible] UAW-CIO [illegible] been to come forward when things are critical x x x and demand more wages."

Leonard later told newsmen a Ford official indicated the company might be willing to talk a lesser amount" than the 30 per cent demand. The union leader said he would give "serious consideration to scaling down that amount if an annual wage offer was made.

Club Plans Yule Party at Children's Home

Final arrangements were made for the annual Christmas party for youngsters of the Children's Home on the Delaware pike next Thursday, Dec. 20, at a meeting of the Y's Men's club last night at the Y.M.C.A. The regular weekly meeting, which falls on Dec. 26, has been postponed and plans are being made to entertain the Marion Rotary club Thursday night, Dec. 27, at the Y.

Members of the Ohioan club, former football players of Ohio State university who competed with the Y-Indus team in basketball last night, were guests. Those attending included Al White, coach of the team, Ollie Cline, Steve O'Dea, Harold Daugherty, Bob Dove, Charles Fazio, Richard Mulvaine, Donald Zangara, Ray Baker and Harley Smith.

Elmer Compton will succeed William Isaly as president of the Y's Men's club for the remainder of the club year, it was announced at the meeting.

Due to resignation of the president, who is leaving Marion, Kenneth Harris, formerly second vice president, will be moved up to first vice president and a member of the board of directors will be chosen to serve as second vice president. A new board member will then be named to fill the vacancy.

CODE DISCLOSURES CALLED "TRAGEDY"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal today called it a "terrible tragedy" that the secrets of breaking the Japanese code have been made public.

The cabinet member made this statement before the senate military committee while urging a Navy department plan for postwar reorganization of the armed forces. This plan counters the war department proposal for merging the armed forces into a single organization.

"It was very unfortunate," Forrestal said of the code breaking disclosures.

"We were playing the Pacific war poker game with a mirror behind another man's hand," he said, referring to the value of the code secret during hostilities.

Forrestal urged a single postwar intelligence agency for all government agencies. This is one feature of the Navy's reorganization proposal.
